NEW YORK HARBOR BLAZE RAGES

Claim Counter-Attacks Save Key Ukraine City

REDS SLASH AT FLANK OF NAZI INVADING ARMY

Kiev Believed Town Saved In Assault; Germans Launch Northern Offensive.

BIG SEAPORT CAPTURED

Soviets Admit Nikolaev Falls, Declare Dockyards Are Blown Up.

(By Associated Press)

Fierce Russian counter-attacks were reported today to have saved a Ukraine city identified as "K" — possibly Kiev, the capital—with 20,000 Germans killed and wounded after they had advanced within five miles of the town then were thrown back six to eight miles.

Red army troops still were advancing, Soviet dispatches said, hitting savagely at the northern flank of the long German wedge into the Ukraine.

On the central front, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's defenders of the road to Moscow were reported to have repulsed other Nazi columns in large-scale counter-attacks. Near a city identified only as "M", the German losses were put at 5,000 men.

The Russians acknowledged that Nazi troops knifing across the heart of the southern Ukraine had captured the big port of Nikolaev, 60 miles northeast of Odessa, but declared that the city's shipyards had been blown up in the withdrawal.

Soviet officials also admitted the fall of Krivoi Rog, rich iron ore center, 100 miles northeast of Nikolaev, which the Germans claimed last week.

With the 1,200-mile battlefront from the Baltic to the Black sea aflame in bitter night-long fighting, authoritative quarters in London said Adolf Hitler's invasion armies apparently had launched a major new offensive in the north, driving from Estonia toward Leningrad.

London advices said the Leningrad thrust was timed with the withdrawal of Marshal Semeon Budyenny's Red armies in the south, where they were taking up a new defense line along the mile-wide Dnieper river. These quarters estimated the German attacking force in the Ukraine at more

FDR, Churchill Turning Agreement Into Action

President Confers With Hull on Far East

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Roosevelt called in senate and house leaders today to give them "an accounting" on foreign policy developments of the last two weeks, including details of his conference at sea with Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt returned to his desk today to translate into forceful action his agreement with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill to increase American war-aid and stiffen resistance to Axis aggression.

First moves by the chief executive upon his return to the capital from his historic sea meeting with Churchill emphasized that he was most attentive to the strained relations with Japan and the need for expediting shipments of war supplies to Russia despite apparent Japanese distaste for them.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull met Mr. Roosevelt at the station yesterday and returned with him to the White House, where they conferred for two and a half hours on the explosive Japanese situation.

The discussion was reported to have gone far beyond Japan's action in holding 100 American citizens as virtual hostages.

Prime Minister In London to Work on Collaboration

(By United Press)

LONDON—Prime Minister Winston Churchill returned today from his historic meeting with President Roosevelt to place in operation their eight-point victory program and intensify Anglo-American-Soviet collaboration to smash "Nazi tyranny."

Political quarters said Churchill might make a radio speech on the conference tomorrow. It was understood that he inspected the American and British garrisons at Iceland on his return.

Confronting the prime minister were reports that the German offensive was thrusting with renewed momentum into the Ukraine, that Japan was intensifying the Pacific war of nerves, and that a second warning had to be served on Iran regarding German infiltration.

The first problem Churchill is expected to tackle is that of aid to Russia, in the belief that it is of urgent importance to move swiftly. It was believed he would send Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to Moscow for the scheduled Anglo-American talks with Josef Stalin.

The Anglo-American leaders were reported to have had one of the biggest concentrations of naval forces ever assembled to protect them when they conferred at sea a week ago.

Churchill went by train from

15 INJURED IN AREA MISHAPS, 21 DIE IN OHIO

Willard Boy, 13, Near Death After Being Hit By Car While Riding Bike.

TWO CARS MEET HEAD-ON

Teacher Ordered Into Court After Accident on 30-N Intersection.

Six week-end traffic accidents in the Mansfield area brought injuries to 15 persons, one of whom was near death today in Willard Municipal hospital, while highway mishaps throughout the state claimed at least 21 lives.

Most seriously injured was Arlin Roose, 13, of Willard who was struck by a car at 10:30 a. m. today as he rode his bicycle out of a lane onto Route 99-S just east of Willard. He suffered a skull fracture, and fractures of his right arm and leg. Attendants at Municipal hospital said his condition is critical.

Herbert Barber, Detroit, driver of the car, took the boy to the hospital. The Roose boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Roose. He has a twin brother.

A two-car collision at 8 a. m. today at the intersection of U. S. Route 30-N and State Route 314 west of Mansfield resulted in injuries to three persons and the citation of one of the drivers on an unsafe operation charge.

Cited in municipal court was Miss Margaret Byrne, 54, a Chicago teacher, who received minor injuries. Tracy Mathes, 48, Crestline, R. D. 1, the other driver, and his wife, Grace, received cuts and bruises.

State highway patrolmen said Miss Byrne's car apparently swerved across Route 30 after she drove onto the highway from State Route 314. Mathes said he was unable to stop in time to avoid the collision.

Six persons were injured, none believed seriously, in a collision about 10 a. m. Sunday on State Route 3, northeast of Loudonville. Samuel Peck, 60, Cleveland, and Kermit Frecka, 35, Portsmouth, drivers of the cars involved in the crash, suffered chest and shoulder injuries. Mrs. Nola Peck, 63, rid-

Odessa--- Will It Be Tobruk Of Black Sea?

War reports from the Ukraine today indicated that the Russians are continuing to withdraw from the rich agricultural and industrial area of southwest Russia before the onslaught of Nazi invaders. Pointed up by these reports is the position of Odessa, vital Black Sea port shown in the panorama view above. Dispatches say the defenses of Odessa remain sound and that although the city is cut off by land it is not being evacuated—suggesting the possibility that Odessa may become "another Tobruk." British troops continue to hold Tobruk although the Libyan port has been isolated by land for months.

BLASTS IGNITE DOCKS, SHIPS IN GIANT FIRE

Freighter, Flaming From Stem To Stern, Cut Adrift, Floats Down Bay.

FIVE ALARMS SOUNDED

Firemen Battle to Keep Blaze From Pier Where British Supply Ships Load.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — A raging fire, touched off by a series of explosions which shook lower Manhattan, destroyed the Cuba Mail Line pier in Brooklyn today, set an American freighter and several heavily-loaded barges aflame, and spread to a nearby pier used by British ships.

The American freighter Panuco, loaded with quicksilver, minerals and hemp, broke immediately into flames, was cut loose and drifted down the bay, a blazing mass from stem to stern.

Firemen rushed all equipment to the five-alarm fire to keep the blaze from spreading to the nearby port line pier where British ships almost daily load supplies destined for England and the Suez.

The scene of the fire was opposite Governors island, site of Fort Jay, one the edge of Buttermilk channel, which links the East river with New York harbor.

Harry Garcia, superintendent of Pier 32, near the flaming Pier 27, said the fire broke out at 10:40 a. m. (EST) in a series of explosions which sent "flames leaping 125 feet into the air."

"I don't know whether anyone was injured," Garcia said, "but the fire spread so quickly some must have been trapped.

It was not immediately learned what was stored in the 525-foot-long pier or its sheds.

The passenger liner Coamo, which arrived from San Juan and Trujillo City, Mexico, this morning was unloading sisal at the pier when the fire broke out at 10:40 a. m. (EST). The 7,057-ton Coamo backed hastily from the pier.

(Sisal hemp is a strong fibre used for Cordage).

Observers said a flaming barge was cast adrift and was floating crazily down the river while fireboats threw tons of water on it.

U. S. Protests Holding Of Citizens By Japan

Strong Representations Are Made To Tokyo As Nationals Are Kept From Boarding Liner.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The United States, it was learned today, has made strong representations to Japan over the holding of 100 American private citizens who wish to return home.

This government made the representations through diplomatic channels after it was notified by the Japanese government that the American citizens would not be permitted to board the American liner, President Coolidge, which the state department planned to send to a Nippon port to pick them up.

It is hoped in official quarters in Washington, however, that the incident will not become a serious one. The belief prevails that the holding of the American citizens is due chiefly to Japanese red-tape and that it will be possible to arrange transportation home for them in the near future.

Japan has not demanded anything in return for release of the American citizens. Nor has the Japanese government indicated that it intends to hold them for any particular length of time.

The Japanese foreign office merely refused to permit the President Coolidge to enter a Japanese port for the purpose of picking up the private citizens, although it was willing to let the liner enter and take aboard about 20 American officials to return home. Two theories are held here as to the reason for the Japanese foreign office's action in drawing a distinction between American private citizens and officials.

One is that the American gov-

ARMY READY TO ACT IN STRIKE

Detachments Prepare to Move Into Shipyards If FDR Orders It.

(By United Press)

KEARNY, N. J.—Chief Patrick Dolan of the Hudson county police said today that United States army detachments were preparing to move into the strike-bound Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company plant here "when and if the president orders it taken over."

Dolan said units of the second coast artillery from Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, would be established in a parking lot outside the shipyards if the government decided to take possession and resume construction of $493,000,000 worth of navy and maritime commission vessels tied up by a 12-day strike of 16,000 workers.

Reports of possible imminent action by the army were circulated while thousands of CIO pickets participated in a mass demonstration at the plant's gates.

Pickets, including hundreds of "sympathy" demonstrators from CIO locals not directly involved in the strike, began arriving at the scene early. By 10:30 a. m., 30 minutes after the scheduled start of the demonstration, more than 3,000 marchers were parading in a double line about half a mile long.

They carried signs, most of

GREEKS STARVE

Red Cross Worker Brings Back Appeal For Aid From U. S.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(U.P.)—Miss Alice G. Carr of Yellow Springs, O., internationally famous Red Cross and health worker, said on her return from Athens today that many Greeks would die of starvation this winter.

Miss Carr, a member of the Near East foundation in Athens, arrived aboard the American Export liner Exeter. She said that her Greek friends asked her to urge Americans to send food.

"Please tell the Americans," she quoted them as saying, "that we are starving. Tell them please to hurry." Miss Carr said the Greeks conducted themselves with dignity and calm after the Italo-German conquest but that their plight was urgent.

STOMACH, HEART ACHES RESULT

Boy Takes Mothers Savings to Go On Pop and Candy Spree.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A 13-year-old east side boy has a stomach ache today and his mother a heart ache.

The mother, wife of a WPA worker, had been saving pennies, nickels and an occasional dime toward a fund she hoped some day would make the down payment on a home. The savings, which had mounted to $120, were kept in a bedroom cedar chest.

Two days ago the boy and the money disappeared. He was found last night with two friends after having spent $50.76 on hot dogs, pop, movies and amusement park rides.

STAYS CHILLY

Weatherman Says Mercury To Rise Only Slightly Tonight.

Mansfielders pulled still more blankets out of closets today as the weatherman gave only a slight hint of a break in the cool weather wave which has chilled the city for the past four days.

Cloudy weather with occasional rain and slightly higher temperatures are predicted for tonight while showers and thunderstorms are seen for tomorrow.

The mercury stayed below 80 over the week-end hitting 77 as its highest point yesterday afternoon. High for Saturday was 72 degrees. Low point for this morning was 51 degrees, two higher than yesterday morning.

The preview of fall weather gave Mansfield an average temperature of only 62 degrees for the past 24 hours, eight lower than the 16-year aevrage. Rainfall this morning was recorded as only .01 inches.

ARTIST DIES

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Frederick P. Weygold, 71, artist and ethnologist, died here last night.

TWO FLEE, ONE INMATE RETURNS

O. S. R. Fugitives Elude Posse Hunting Them In Escape Late at Night.

Traffic was heavy on the escape route from Ohio State reformatory last night with two inmates fleeing but another, gone nine days, surrendered to finish a 20-year term.

Shortly before two youths, working on the reformatory's farm faded into the darkness around the poultry barns, Benny Passafuim, 24, who escaped on Aug. 9, walked up to the institution and surrendered to guards.

Passafuim told Supt. Arthur L. Glattke that he was "sorry he had run away." The youth was admitted from Warren county on Oct. 24, 1935 to serve from one-to-20 years for auto theft.

Two other inmates escaped shortly after 10 p. m. Glattke said that John Oberdorf, 19, and Woodrow Dobson, 22, fled while going to work on the third milking shift.

Oberdorf, who was admitted from Wood county on Oct. 1, 1940 to serve from one to 15 years for burglary and larceny, and Dobson, entered from Muskingum county to serve a similar term for assault with intent to rob, were followed immediately by a posse but made good their escape under cover of darkness.

Patrolman George F. Yoakum, whose car was reported stolen by two other escapees, captured Thursday in Columbus, informed Mansfield police that his car was recovered in Columbus on Saturday, Aug. 9. The escapees, William Hall, 19, Reynoldsville, and Paul Hoover, 18, Columbus, allegedly took Yoakam's car from his garage. They were captured by Columbus police at the point of a gun Thursday.

TAXPAYERS LAG

Only Two Days Left To Pay $150,000, Treasurer Says.

Richland county property owners have only two days left to pay nearly $150,000 in second-half real estate taxes without penalty, County Treasurer John E. Kolb warned today.

The tax books will close at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday and payments made after that time are subject to a penalty for delinquency.

Total payments to this morning amounted to $403,561, but the treasurer estimated that today's receipts would boost the collections to more than $450,000. Receipts Saturday totaled $12,030.

Although payments are lagging behind the first-half period, Kolb pointed out that a number of checks are being received by mail which will not be counted until after the books close. None of the collectors in Shelby and county villages have reported their receipts, he added.

PICKS BLOND

Tommy Manville Plans to Wed and Adopt Bride's Son.

MAMARONECK, N. Y.—(INS)—Tommy Manville, playboy heir to the Johns-Manville asbestos fortune, today disclosed that he planned to marry strawberry blond Beverly Paterno and adopt her four-year-old son as soon as she obtains a divorce from the wealthy Joseph P. Paterno.

The four-times married Manville, who said this marriage would be marked by an inexpensive Niagara Falls honeymoon, said the boy would inherit his entire estate if the adoption goes through.

FREE SHOT FOR CROWS

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — Many Clark county farmers are offering free shotgun shells to all who will shoot crows which, along with grasshoppers, are playing havoc with corn crops, Farm Agent C. E. Rowland reported.

CONGRESS HIT BY DOLDRUMS

Many Members Go Home As 4-Week Rest Period Begins.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — After almost eight months of strenuous work, congress found itself today in the dog-days doldrums, with a majority of members idling at home or at vacation resorts.

Under an agreement to meet only twice weekly and to transact no business, the house started a four-week rest period today. Most members packed their bags and left town during the week-end.

Democratic Leader Barkley said today the senate had nothing on its books this week and that he could foresee no business until the finance committee reports the new revenue bill, probably around September 1.

MOTHER HELD

Young Woman Confesses That She Poisoned 4-Months-Old Baby.

CLEVELAND—(UP)—Mrs. Catherine Keiper, 21-year-old mother of two children, was held by police today after she confessed poisoning her 4-months-old son, Andrew.

She told police she gave him half a teaspoon of an antiseptic solution to "make him sick so the hospital would keep him for me." She said she had trouble getting someone to watch the child while she worked to buy some new clothes.

DEFERS 28'ERS

President Signs Bill Altering Selective Service Rules.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt signed into law today legislation to relieve men 28 years and older from active military duty under the selective service act.

The new law provides mandatory deferment for men not yet inducted and directs that those of the specified age who request it shall be released from service "as soon as practicable and when not in conflict with the interests of national defense."

The chief executive was expected to sign later in the day a bill extending the service of the rank and file of the army 18 months. The mandatory deferment applies to men who on July 1, 1941, or on July 1 of any subsequent year have reached their 28th birthday without being inducted into service.

LONDON — (INS) — Two Cincinnati housebreakers walked away from the Lebanon honor camp of the London prison farm. They were Clifford McCarthy, 30, and Jack Wilson, 26.

Council to Act on Rush Bills Tonight For Street Paving

With a bit of early fall weather on hand to emphasize the need, city council will meet today at 8 p. m. to pass legislation to insure the paving of two city streets before cold weather arrives.

Fearing that further delay in paving Newman street and Taylor road and constructing a sanitary sewer on Newman would force postponement until next year, council will pass ordinances authorizing the work.

Council was unable to take any action on the projects at its regular August meeting because 30 days must expire between the passage of resolutions and ordinances. The resolutions for improvements were passed on July 14.

If the ordinances were not passed until the September meeting, another month's delay would be met because 30 days must elapse before a contract may be awarded. This would have placed the contract award in October, leaving little time for the work.

William J. Beer, clerk of council, said that no action would be taken on other legislation at the meeting unless it was presented as an emergency.

LIED ABOUT AGE

Said He Was Only 81 In Order To Get Air Warden Post.

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Julius Wiener registered for air-raid warden service, giving his age as 81. Later, he admitted he was 86.

"I said I was 81," he explained, "because I was afraid they wouldn't take an old man of 86." He was accepted.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Mrs. Sarah Siegel, 69, mother of Jerry Siegel, one of the originators of the comic strip, Superman, died yesterday.

Former Mansfielder Skelton, Movie Success, Credits Wife

One-time Mansfielder Red Skelton, stage and moving-picture gagster currently at work on Hollywood's interpretation of Panama Hattie, attributes his success to Edna Skelton, ex-usherette at Loew's theater in Kansas City today in Frederick C. Othman's story out of the picture city.

Skelton, brother of Paul and Denny Skelton of Mansfield, once attended school in this city, Paul said today. Red last visited Mansfield in November and is likely to return here following the completion of Panama Hattie, he said.

Paul recently returned from a two-month stay in Hollywood with his brother.

This is Othman's story of Skelton's rise to stardom on the stage and screen:

The girl we want to meet is Edna Skelton. She's made her red-headed husband worth $2,000 of the movies' money every week. If it weren't for her he'd be a bum., That's exactly what he said.

As it is, with Edna writing the gags and managing the business and teaching her husband the rudiments of trigonometry and medieval history, he's one of the funniest comedians in the business, star of the hit, "Whistling in the Dark," and one of the principals of the upcoming mu-

Rain Or Shine, Annual County Fair Gets Started Tomorrow

Rain or shine, Richland county's annual fair will get under way tomorrow with four days and nights of entertainment and instruction on the program.

Although most of the exhibits and rides will be in place Tuesday, there will be no program until Wednesday morning, fair officials said. There will be night entertainment from Wednesday through Saturday.

Wednesday's program, designed to appeal to rural people, will open at 8 a. m. with the judging of livestock and farm exhibits. A 4-H club demonstration contest will be given in front of the grandstand at 9 a. m.

A 4-H revue is scheduled for 1 p. m. and a demonstration by winners of the morning competition at 1:30 p. m. County 4-H clubs and Future Farmer organizations will join in a parade at 2:30 p. m. The Bellville school band will participate.

Walter Lloyd, editor of the Ohio Farmer, is scheduled to speak at 2 p. m. on a subject of current interest to farmers and rural youth groups.

A quiz contest, trailer-backing contest, and milking contest will follow at 3 p. m.

Klein's animal circus and a band contest will feature the Thursday program. Midget auto races, with more than 30 cars participating, will head the Thursday, Friday, and Saturday night entertainment. The animal circus will give performances Thursday and Friday afternoon and night.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—The Roosevelt-Churchill eight points have already been thoroughly discussed and will doubtless continue to be chewed over for weeks to come. This column has no desire to Hooverize them further. Also the spectacular showmanship of the highly dramatic setting of the conference at sea makes it clear that it was a major move in the great international poker game of the moment. In such circumstances it isn't nice to look over the shoulder of the player on our side and make revealing faces about what kind of a hand it really is.

Johnson

As a statement of lofty principles it could hardly be excelled even by Woodrow Wilson's high-minded and unselfish Fourteen Points. Mr. Wilson sincerely believed in his fourteen points as Mr. Roosevelt doubtless believes in his eight principles. The trouble in 1918 and 1919 was that Mr. Wilson's associates at Versailles didn't sincerely believe in them. They euchered or bluffed him out of some of them in their entirety, such as freedom of the seas, and out of all of them in part. They were fenagled and twisted to disappoint friend (Italy), foe (the Central Powers) and the promise to neutrals —"removal of trade barriers" and so forth.

The fourteen points were wonderful war propaganda for our side. Probably the eight points will be also, but, after that great earlier experience, not quite so effective.

Much has already been read into them that isn't there—principally that America and Britain are now mutually pledged to "destroy the Nazi tyranny." What was really said was "after the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny, they hope to see established a peace which will afford to all nations the means of dwelling safely within their own boundaries and which will afford assurance that all men in all lands may live out their lives in freedom from want and fear."

The vagueness, the lack of specification and especially the lack of definite promise is, I think, the most commendable aspect of this message. The vast and unexpected changes that have followed each other, almost overnight, in this most unpredictable of all wars makes any kind of specification or promise hazardous in the extreme.

While it is true that Woodrow Wilson's Fourteen Points were laid down just before the dark days of March, 1918, there was more ground for predicting the eventual outcome of the war than there is today. Anyway, the fourteen points were not promises or predictions either. They were a concise statement of the war aims of America—what we were fighting for, win, lose or draw. They were timely and proper.

So are the Roosevelt-Churchill eight points, even if they could not be as definite and precise and even if their very vagueness is expanded by misrepresentation to mean much more than the words say.

All this is to say that while they can't mean much, there must have been some very powerful poker-playing reason to stage this spectacular show at just this time and to speak this piece to the world in just this way. Since the words do not commit us to anything to which official utterances had not seemed to commit us before and since it is highly doubtful whether the utterance of any single official could commit us at all, I can't see much reason for criticism of the words.

Since the reason for this gesture was undoubtedly good I can't see much reason for any criticism at all.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking for Myself.

I AM glad to see that, outwardly at least, Garbo and Constance Bennett fooled the wiseacres when fate and M. G. M. put them both in the same picture. Wait, the wiseacres said, until nature's child, Garbo, and that city critter, Miss Bennett, get together on that Garbo set. Boy-oh-boy, they said, some doings! To hear their pyrotechnical talk you'd have sworn it was the day before the Fourth of July.

Kilgallen

So the girls met. And instead of drawing swords or hurling javelins they took—or appeared to take—to each other immediately. Things were so lovely Connie even whiled away some time between "takes" by designing a negligee for Garbo while Adrian was away on vacation.

That indicates a lot of admirable restraint on the part of both the girls. After all, they could have engaged in a feud which would have been very boring to one and all.

Producer Dick Krakeur, who is Vinton Freedley's associate, says he was interested in my concern over who this season's Broadway Cinderella (a girl like Mary Martin or Carol Bruce) will be. Dick discovered Carole Bruce, and he wants to go on record as predicting that this year the femme skyrocket will be Mary Jane Walsh.

Well, I am in favor of that—but of course, Mary Jane isn't exactly an "unknown." She grabbed a good deal of publicity when she made her debut in "Sing Out the News," and her rendition of "Give It Back to the Indians" was one of the memorable moments of "Too Many Girls," and the season before last.

My own personal spy in charge of discoveries asks me to make note of the fact that a young actor named Hume Cronyn can't possibly escape all kinds of laurels this autumn, that he is not only sensational, but a combination of Harold Lloyd and Charley Ray and all the great comedians of all time. Mr. Cronyn will be seen in "Mr. Big."

RAVENNA PLANT STARTS TURNING OUT MUNITIONS

Signal Given For Pouring of Explosives Along First Loading Line.

(By Associated Press)

RAVENNA—Deft and deliberate hands worked the melting pots today as the signal for pouring high explosives into artillery projectiles was given on the first loading line of the Ravenna ordnance plant.

Just 323 days ago the 21,000-acre site was quiet farmland, today 15,000 workmen are still busy amid the clatter of trucks, concrete mills, hammers and tools, rushing to completion three more loading lines and a storage depot.

More than 1,000 separate building units are scattered for miles through the bare fields and wood lots in an area half the size of the city of Cleveland. The total cost will be $46,000,000 for the plant and $7,000,000 for the depot.

The Atlas Powder company, operator of the works, sent into the first line a crew of key men it has been training for eight months. Their first job will be the assembly of 75 millimeter supercharged rounds for the field artillery.

Though not the largest physical layout, this plant was described by Lieut. Col. R. S. Chavin, commanding officer and construction quartermaster, as the largest producer of complete rounds of ammunition in the nation, and possibly the world.

From factories all over the country carefully machined projectiles and shell parts are sent here, Ravenna's job being the assembly. Artillery ammunition up to 240 millimeters — about 10 inches—and bombs ranging in size from 20 pounds to one ton will be the finished products.

To fill the ammunition, one of the principal high explosives to be used is TNT. Both TNT and DNT will be produced less than 100 miles from here in Erie county, near Sandusky, where the $40,000,000 Plum Brook ordnance plant will be completed early in 1942.

Peak operations will employ 9,000, but output is not being disclosed. About half the workers will be women. There are 18,000 applications, but until sufficient workers are trained, three-shift operations will not be attempted. One shift of 40 hours a week will open production.

No one may enter a loading area with materials which might set off a spark. Matches are confiscated, as well as keys and coins. Workmen's shoes are of special design to eliminate the scuffing of nails. There are special buildings where workers change to uniforms provided by the company, and these are worn only during morning hours, to be left and laundered on the premises.

'JOKE' COSTS HIM

Man Who Placed Fumigating Liquid Near Grill, Fined.

The practical joke of a Mansfield resident cost him $10 and costs this morning in Muncipal court when he pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct upon arraignment before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

Frank Latier, Brunswick hotel, charged with causing a disturbance in a downtown grill yesterday by placing cloths saturated with a strong fumigating liquid in its cellarway, told Judge Kalbfleisch he did it as a "practical joke."

Harold J. Gutekunst, proprietor of the grill, told the court that Latier's joke had caused great discomfort for his customers. Fumes from the fumigating liquid quickly filled the grill, causing the customers' eyes to water and smart.

25 LAKES ORE SHIPS SOUGHT

OPM Director Urges Building of Emergency Fleet at Cost of 50 Millions.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—OPM Production Director John D. Biggers proposed today that the maritime commission construct an emergency fleet of 25 Great Lakes iron ore boats at a cost of $50,000,000.

The boats are needed, he said, to transport ore which will be required to meet the 6,508,950-ton increase in pig iron capacity recommended recently by the OPM.

"It is essential that the construction of these boats be completed at the earliest possible date and we cannot emphasize too strongly their urgent need in the defense program," Biggers wrote Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission.

The OPM added that approval of an over-all expansion of the steel industry, as now contemplated, would require even a larger ore boat building program.

The boats would have a net capacity of 12,000 to 13,000 long tons each. It was estimated that their combined yearly capacity would be 8,750,000 long tons.

They would be approximately 600 feet long and 60 feet wide, with a speed of 11 to 11 ¼ land miles per hour loaded and 12 to 13 land miles per hour light.

It is planned to have the fleet built by the beginning of the 1943 navigation season.

RURAL CARRIERS OPEN CONCLAVE

4,000 Delegates From Over Nation Converge On Columbus.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Rural letter carriers from throughout the nation converged upon Columbus today for their 1941 convention which opens business sessions tomorrow.

More than 4,000 delegates from every state except Nevada and Utah are expected to attend the week-long gathering of the National Rural Letter Carriers association, its ladies' auxiliary and the rural carrier juniors, comprised of children of the carriers.

Chief business issue will be discussion of "longevity" tenure legislation now pending before congress.

Agency Ordered to Present Evidence In Coal Marketing Dispute.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The bituminous coal division today denied a motion by Appalachian Coals, Inc., to dismiss a proceeding under which the devision is seeking to tighten regulation of the Cincinnati Regional Marketing agency.

Appalachian coals has been ordered to "show cause" tomorrow why regulations should not be tightened and maximum prices established for fuel sold by the agency "whenever it is found necessary for the protection of the consuming public."

HUNT PRINTER WHO MADE BOGUS TICKETS WHICH CAUSED RIOT

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — Police today sought the printer whose issuance of counterfeit boat excursion tickets resulted in yesterday's dock riot of 10,000 negroes in which three women were trampled to death and 75 persons injured.

Killed under the feet of their fellow-picnickers, who rioted on a Hudson river dock at the news that thousands of tickets for their Odd Fellows outing were spurious, were Marion Worrell, 48; Rose Grant, 50, and Martha Murraine, 54.

The excursionists, who were waiting to board the river steamer Delaware for a trip to Poughkeepsie, made a mad rush for the gangplank when the word spread that only 3,200 of the 10,000 could be accommodated aboard the chartered vessel.

Hundreds of women, clinging desperately to small children, were thrown to the rough board planking of the dock and were ground underfoot by the mob. The water was dotted with lunch baskets, shoes, hats, dresses and luggage.

Police, who had to fire shots into the air in order to restore order, reported that their investigation showed the "regular" ticket sale had not exceeded the passenger capacity of the boat.

ILL FOR MONTH

Lela Ackinclose, 30, Dies at Hospital Sunday.

Lela Marie Ackinclose, 30, wife of Robert Ackinclose, died yesterday in Mansfield General hospital after a months' illness. She lived at 174½ East Fourth street.

Born at Elkfork March 21, 1911, she came to Mansfield eight years ago.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Vivian; two sons, George and Robert; her father, Pearle Hooper of Canton; one sister, Mrs. Mary Goodwin of Mansfield and five brothers, Thomas Hooper of Canton, Lawrence Hooper of New Kensington, Pa., and Joseph, William and Clarence Hooper, all of Mansfield.

The body was taken to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. in charge of Rev. E. G. Corwin. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Laff-a-Day

"She made the course in 100 and the pro in ten minutes."

Boy Scout officials are having trouble with the sandstone walls in their office. The office is in a basement and last time it rained water seaped through the walls in rivers, flooding the floor and floating rugs. Today rugs are being dried out with a fan and a red hot heater, but mould has formed on some parts of the floor coverings already and some damage has been done. Floyd Dent, Scout executive, considered marking high water marks on the wall before he left yesterday on a Boy Scout Canadian trip.

James A. Watkins, a 19-year-old colored youth, hitch-hiked from Mansfield to Camp Funston, Kans., last week because he decided the only way he would ever see his brother was to join the army. Young Watkins, whose home is in Middletown, had been working in a Mansfield foundry. He hadn't seen his brother, Sergeant Curtis Watkins, for 14 years, and when the brother wrote to him urging him to join the army, Watkins followed his advice and "thumbed" rides the 1,500 miles to Camp Funston, arriving Saturday. Now Watkins hopes he will be assigned to his brother's regiment.

Mayor William J. Locke resents the implication that he needs expensive paper to record his words. He explained today that the stationery he recently acquired at the cost of five cents per sheet and envelope would only cost about two cents a sheet in the future. Locke said that an additional $15 was paid on the first order to pay for the initial cost of a new letterhead bearing the seal of the city. Orders given from now on, he explained would cost only about $10 rather than $25 for each thousand sheets and envelopes.

If county employes see the county fair this year they'll have to go at night. Despite considerable "pressure" from employes for a half-holiday Thursday, county commissioners said today there will be no closing of the courthouse this time. "We have closed a half-day for several years and then no one from the courthouse attended the fair," C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board, said. "Besides, we have given employes two half holidays on Saturdays this summer and that's about enough," he added.

Sees 12 Million Surplus For Ohio At Close Of Year

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Finance Director H. D. Defenbacher estimates that Ohio will have a $12,000,000 treasury surplus at the end of this year, but supports Gov. John W. Bricker's contention that the present rate of income might not continue through 1942.

On July 1 the treasury had a balance of $9,365,000 although expenditures during the first six months of the year were $1,250,000 greater than cash receipts.

First half expenses, however, included several large items which will not recur in the last half of the year, such as a $3,000,000 payment on the school foundation debt, $2,209,000 to equalize federal-state relief matching in 1940, and a $580,000,000 deficit in the 1940 school operations.

In the first half of 1942, though, the state will have about $8,000,000 in extraordinary expenditures in addition to another $3,000,000 school debt payment, Defenbacher said. The state welfare building program will account for most of the extra outlay.

The finance director foresees a sharp reduction of sales tax revenues next year because of government restrictions on installment buying and imposition of priorities.

AUTHORITY TO FORM DEFENSE COUNCIL NEAR

Law Effective Wednesday Will Provide Means to Aid Firms Hit By Priorities.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Governor Bricker, returning to his desk today from a Canadian vacation, is expected to take steps to try to forestall a growing dislocation of Ohio industry and consequent unemployment from national defense priorities on raw materials.

The law authorizing the governor to establish a state defense council becomes effective Wednesday and one of the council's first big problems will be the curtailment and shutting down of hundreds of small manufacturing concerns because of material priorities.

The council will seek to speed the flow on defense contracts into the affected industries which have been throwing an increasing number of persons out of work in recent weeks.

One obstacle to be overcome is that of production cost differentials between the small factories and big industrial units which specialize in mass production.

The defense council, authorized by the last legislature, will have sweeping powers to investigate industrial and civic life in Ohio in the interest of national defense.

The council has power to recommend to the governor action or legislation relative to regulation of industrial material and facilities; agriculture, food supply and land use; labor supply and training, labor relations; consumer protection; housing; health; hospitals and sanitation; education facilities; finance.

Fifteen members, headed by the governor, will sit on the council. Six will be civilians appointed by Bricker and the other eight state officials specifically designated in the law.

In addition, the governor is authorized to create any local or district defense councils which he thinks advisable.

Other laws passed by the 1941 legislature which go into effect this week include:

An act requiring pre-marital physical examinations in Ohio to determine if the applicants for marriage licenses are free from contagious syphillis, effective today.

An act providing for state licensing and inspection of rest homes, convalescent homes and boarding houses for the aged and infirm, effective Thursday except licensing section which is effective Jan. 1.

An act prohibiting the retail sale of milk and cream in other than gallon, half-gallon, quart, pint, half-pint, and gill containers.

Their parents and two other children were rescued.

Killed were the following children of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Bush: Leora, 12; Fanny, 10; Curt, nine; Shirley, seven; Clay, four, and Nancy, five.

The parents carried the oldest and youngest children, Elva, 14, and Letta, two, to safety.

PARROT MUFFLED

ASCAP Row Keeps Bird From Putting Song On Air Waves.

NEW YORK—(INS)—A yellow-naped Amazon parrot that can whistle the opening bars of the "Stein Song" today was ruled off the nation's air waves because of the dispute between the broadcasting companies and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, owners of the University of Maine tune.

The parrot, which was scheduled to make its radio debut yesterday in a nation-wide broadcast from the Bronx zoo, was yanked from the program by CBS officials because the "Stein Song" is on the interdicted list of songs.

SEEK FORGER

Shelby Police Hunt Man Who Cashed Forged Checks.

SHELBY—Police here are hunting for persons who passed bad checks to six Shelby merchants totaling $164.

The checks were cashed Friday by a man who gave his name as Roy L. Faulkner, a Plymouth township farmer who lives north of Shelby.

A check-up of the signatures by the bank when they were brought in by merchants Saturday showed that they had been forged, police said. The checks were all made payable to Harry Weyman.

Descriptions given by the merchants lead police to believe that there was at least one man and a woman involved. One businessman said a woman cashed the check, while another said a heavyset man had asked for the money. Both purchased small articles from the places where they cashed the checks and received change in return.

Dorothy Levant Weds Martin J. Dicker In Formal Ceremony.

CRESTLINE—A bride of Sunday evening was Miss Dorothy Levant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Levant, 110 Pierce street, who was wed to Martin J. Dicker, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dicker, of Iowa City, Ia. The ceremony took place at 7:30 in the K. of P. hall, with Rabbi David Rube of Mansfield officiating.

For her wedding gown, Miss Levant chose white silk lace and net, the long full skirt ending in a long train. Her finger tip veil with net trimming was caught with a coronation of seed pearls. She carried white roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Al Rich, sister of the bridegroom, of Chicago, who served as matron of honor, was in gold taffeta.

Bridesmaids were Helen Lerner and Shirley Shaffer of Mansfield, and a sister, Jessie Levant of Ft. Wayne. Joan Crystal Dicker, a niece of the bridegroom from Iowa City, was flower girl. Hi Dicker served as best man. Ushers were another brother, Morris Dicker, Iowa City, Robert Ellison, Mansfield, and the bride's brother, Lionel Levant, Crestline.

The couple left for a wedding trip through the western states and on their return Sept. 2 will reside with the bride's parents.

The bride graduated from Crestline high school and the bridegroom from Iowa City high school and Iowa university.

Out-of-town guests were present from Dayton, Cincinnati, Columbus, Lima, Iowa City, New York, Chicago, Newark, N. J., Norwalk, Galion and Mansfield.

PROJECT CLOSED

NYA Stops Sidewalk Program In Shelby Due To Defense.

SHELBY—City-wide NYA program here to improve sidewalks was ordered closed today by Robert D. Royer, Columbus, director of NYA Area No. 8.

The project which has improved nearly 10,000 square feet of sidewalk here during the summer, was shut down so that the funds could be used on defense work.

Sidewalks have been improved under the project on Grove avenue, Myers avenue, West street, Raymond avenue, Smiley avenue, Gamble street, Gaylord avenue and Mansfield avenue.

The two were winners in the Ashland county 4-H club contest in a field of 16. Robert P. Bogniard, city health director, and Mrs. Ruth Daum, county health nurse, were judges.

SHELBY DOCTOR RECENTLY WED

Son of President of School Board Married In Delaware.

SHELBY — Announcement has been made here of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Louise Helfenstein, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Roy C. Helfenstein of Mason City, Del., to Dr. Wilson Kingsboro, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kingsboro of Shelby. The wedding took place Aug. 9 at Congregational Christian church in Dover, Del.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Charlotte Helfenstein of Dover, Del., as maid of honor; Miss Marion Tunnell and Miss Florence Blackburn, both of Wilmington, Del., as bridesmaids, and Miss Marilyn Hodge of Dover, as flower girl.

The best man was Carl B. Giller of Chicago, Ill., former Shelby resident. Ushers were William H. G. Warner and Dr. John C. White, both of Philadelphia, Pa.

The former Miss Helfenstein graduated from Defiance college in Defiance, O., and later completed a nursing course at Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn. She is a member of Beta Sigma sorority and is associated with the Delaware state board of health.

Dr. Kingsboro graduated from Vanderbilt university this spring. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon social fraternity and of the Alpha Kappa Kappa medical fraternity. Dr. Kingsboro is staff physician at Delaware hospital in Wilmington.

CHURCH SEEKS BUILDING LOAN

ASHLAND — Construction of a new church has caused trustees of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, to file an action in common pleas court here for permission to borrow $3,555 under the will of Mary Baker Eddy, the loan to be secured by a declaration of trust.

A decree in divorce has been granted in common pleas court to Martha R. Plank in her suit against Raymond F. Plant on grounds of extreme cruelty. The plaintiff was granted custody of two children and a property settlement and alimony award was made by the court.

Decisions of probate court in the appointment of an administrator and appraisement in the estate of Charles H. Miller, deceased, have been confirmed in common pleas court. The appointment of William Schneider as administrator and the appraisement of the estate returned at $7,800.11, has been confirmed by Common Pleas Judge H. E. Culbertson.

Suit for divorce has been filed by Bess B. Roseborough against George M. Roseborough on grounds of extreme cruelty.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 18, 1941.

Germany's response to the "eight points" is "Nein."

This year's explanation of why the Cleveland Indians are losing the pennant is at least more creditable than last year's.

Something not to brag about is the assertion that Mansfield has more stop-and-go lights than any other city of its size in Ohio—or in any state, for that matter.

Roosevelt Returns, Busy Week Ahead

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is safely back in Washington after a trip that involved considerable danger but that may also be productive of substantial results throughout the world.

Face to face discussions, such as were held by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are much more satisfying than less direct forms of communication, and the opportunity for conferences between the army and navy heads of the two governments also had value.

While it is gratifying to learn of the president's belief that the United States is not now any nearer to actual participation in the war than it was before the conferences, interpretation by the Axis powers can scarcely fail to be that this country is as definitely aligned against them as is Great Britain and Russia.

The tone of insolence in the Nazi comment: "If you, Roosevelt, or you, Churchill, want to disarm us, come over here and do it—if you dare," is typical of a band of heavily armed outlaws defying the forces of orderly government, but also plainly evidences the recognized association of the United States with Great Britain in the present struggle.

Aftermath of the meeting will also be a closer tie-up of interests with Russia's war against invasion and the outcome of the proposed meeting in Moscow to unite "the three greatest powers in the world" against German aggression, will be awaited with much interest.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt's return to Washington finds a full week's schedule ahead of him, with strikes in defense industries probably demanding earliest action.

This matter of retarding defense production by strikes is not only serious from the standpoint of hampering the whole program of national defense and aid to other countries but it has also tended to cause dissatisfaction and resentment among young men who have been called for military training and whose terms are now being extended eighteen months.

If first things are placed first in the administration agenda it will be the strike situation in defense industries that will be given quickest attention.

Those Double-Parked Trucks

PATROLMEN on traffic duty last Saturday confirmed what has been the impression of observers.

Much of Mansfield's traffic congestion is caused by double-parked trucks — as was glaringly the case around 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning when three north-bound trucks between Park avenue and Third street bottlenecked Walnut street for many minutes, with no drivers in sight.

While unloading privileges are accorded trucks, with double-parking occasionally unavoidable, Saturday's incidents of truck drivers double-parking while eating lunch or doing an errand represent inexcusable overstepping of privilege.

It seems reasonable to suggest that, whenever possible, unloading of trucks should be from alleys instead of main thoroughfares, and that there be an effort to make freight and express deliveries in the business area with as little double-parking as practicable, and at times when streets are least likely to be congested.

Willing co-operation of truck drivers, and their employers, with the present attempt to improve Mansfield traffic conditions, in the interest of safety and convenience, can be made very helpful.

Weak Spot In Democracy

COMMENTING on prison sentences imposed on two former councilmen in that city, after they had confessed accepting bribes, the Detroit News says:

"Taking the money was the lesser crime of the crooks in city hall. The greater was weakening confidence in democracy in an hour when it is fighting for its life."

It appears that neither of the men saw anything "very wrong" in taking the bribes. Of this attitude the newspaper says: "This springs from a kind of moral astigmatism, unfortunately too common among those deriving their livelihood from public service. And because it is not rare, severe sentences are required when bribetakers are caught. It must be made plain that in those hired to serve the public with their best efforts and judgment a willingness to do favors for a consideration is very wrong indeed."

One of the weak spots in self government is lack of honesty and dependability on the part of some of the people elected or appointed to public office and few cities have escaped the sad experience of learning that men whom they have trusted were unworthy of the confidence reposed in them.

Combination of honesty and ability should be a reasonable requirement of persons chosen for public positions, but if this cannot be attained preference would be for honesty.

Many Educational Mediums

AS 39-YEAR-OLD Kenneth C. Ray takes the post of state director of education he is quoted as announcing that "the textbook notion, or education primarily from books" will be relegated to secondary importance in his program.

Mr. Ray, it appears, is much impressed by the possibility of expanding the use of radio and motion pictures in the educational field and his reference to "the textbook notion" may not have been intended to be as disparaging as it sounds.

There is undoubtedly a large place in the educational system for balanced use of radio and motion pictures as adjuncts to textbooks, but let's hope that the new director of education doesn't prove to be one of those visionary theorists who incline to put superficialities above fundamentals.

It was quite different during the first World war, when there was plenty of silk for work shirts as well as for hosiery.

Secretary Knox thinks people should know the facts—but the "facts" seem to depend on which side you believe.

Western prune growers are seeking ways to popularize their product—looking for a new wrinkle, perhaps.

They say that "travel broadens"—and Harry Hopkins can surely stand a little broadening.

WITHOUT WAITING TO BE INVITED

Advance 'Leak' of News Planned

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON— Although the meeting of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt at sea was the spectacular sort of thing that would be so appealing to both men that it must have been approved the instant it was suggested, it was planned prior to the latest capitulation of France resulting in the promotion of Admiral Francois Darlan.

But for the first time light is shed on why London and Washington allowed newspaper men to think such a meeting was at least possible, when, to most thinking observers, it seemed that to permit such rumors to get abroad was dangerous to the point of stupidity. They remembered how, in the last war, the Germans sank the cruiser bearing Kitchener to Russia on far less information than leaked out this time.

BUT this "leak" was NOT a slip. It was intentional; and, it seems, with hindsight, to have been very intelligently planned. The point is that the mere publication of the rumor was calculated to have a tremendous moral effect in various parts of the world.

Perhaps most important among these possible effects were on the Japanese and on General Maxime Weygand.

In the case of the French armies in Africa the timing, with the promotion of anti-British Admiral Darlan, was important. Now, General Weygand is not at all pro-British, but he certainly is pro-French. He has been in contact with French naval officers who are bitterly anti-British, but who must also be assumed to be pro-French.

Consider for a moment what effect the declaration issued by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill would have on these Frenchmen, and on General Weygand in particular. It apparently would tend to make them doubtful that Germany was sure of winning. This because of the additional step the United States thus takes toward eventual participation in a shooting war.

This might be said to be the case unless Germany should collapse before the United States reaches that stage.

BUT there is no "unless" on the British side. Nothing that could happen to Britain would abate the determination of Washington that Adolf Hitler must be beaten.

Figuring the effect of these points on the minds of General Weygand and the French naval officers at Dakar and elsewhere, consider now what the text of the joint statement holds out to them IF Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt succeed in defeating Hitler.

It promises the restoration of France. It promises that there will be no seizure of French colonies. Finally, for the nebulous future, it holds again a sort of League of Nations type of promise that no marauding, international bandit, armed to the teeth, is to be permitted.

Shrewd observers here believe that the effect of all this on the French forces still loyal to the Vichy government was and is, alone worth the risk taken by the British prime minister in going to meet Roosevelt. They think that the increase in this risk, occasioned by letting out inklings of the meeting was justified by fear of some sudden move by Admiral Darlan which might have riveted Nazi control over General Weygand and the French fleet.

But this is only part of the picture. By setting the stage of this meeting of minds in such a dramatic manner, it is unthinkable that the news will not percolate all through the occupied countries, and through Germany itself. The effect on morale cannot be exaggerated.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, Aug. 18, 1921.

Parts of Trimble and Raemelton school districts were taken into city school system.

Nine-year-old Ronald Hemmerly, of Shelby, died of injuries caused when he was kicked by horse.

Kiwanis club meeting was held at Masonic temple, with President Edwin O. Townsend in charge. Ed Ford, Henry Goetz, William Voegele and George Lowrey told about recent trips.

Rev. A. C. Miller, pastor of St. Matthew's church, returned from vacation spent at his farm near Lancaster.

Listen World!

Should Truth Be Told?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THANKS—and plenty!—to Messrs. "Bugs" Baer and Boake Carter for saying something which many of us have been hankering to discuss for, lo, these many moons! Said question being:

Has the American public the right to know the truth about the war, no matter how alarming that truth may seem? Should we be allowed to face the full facts before we are called upon to make decisions which may affect our own and our children's lives for generations to come?

To which queries friends "Bugs" and Boake respond with a hearty "Yes!" Not that they're sponsoring any unreasonable demands. Like all sane citizens, they know that the government can't run around dispensing Vital Information promiscuously. But they have a hunch that people who have shown as much hoss sense as we Americans have in creating their country—and have spent as many hard-earned dollars in paying for the same—might be trusted with a few essential statistics before being told to sign on the dotted line.

Frank Talk between Free Men—it can and it has been done and with markedly successful results. And such talk would seem to be one of the leading prerogatives of those residing in a democracy. Mr. Carter, in fact, cites a recent incident when President Roosevelt himself, rebelling against tradition and taboo, put his cards on the table, face up, with happy results.

For two years, to the mingled wrath and bewilderment of sympathetic taxpayers and a derisive world, the Administration had allowed oil to be sent to Japan while, at the same time, condemning the war on China. Why? The query swelled to an indignant chorus. Whereupon the president, reversing his previous policy, gave a frank explanation which allayed malicious suspicion and restored much-needed national self-respect. At least for a week or so. Maybe. Perhaps. Which, you'll admit, was perfectly ducky. Only—

"Would, oh would," moans Boake Carter, "that President Roosevelt were as frank, forthright and earnestly straightforward over (the rest of) his foreign policy. . . . If only Mr. R. would apply the same candor to explain what is the basis of his policy in other directions . . . the national confidence which would displace the existing distrust and distrust would be enormous."

But could the average American handle such confidence if it were given him? Is his viewpoint broad enough and his reasoning shrewd enough to enable him to make wise and lasting decisions? "Bugs" Baer thinks it is—and says so in one of his immortal phrases.

"I talk to a lot of farmers, carpenters, taxi-drivers and all kinds of folk during the year," says "Bugs." "And there is one thing to remember:

"THEY AREN'T BUYING ANY HATS WITH OTHER PEOPLE'S THOUGHTS IN 'EM."

Americans can do their own thinking, says "Bugs" and Boake. They can face their own facts and add 'em up. And that's Front Page News—whether we're at war or not. Also, that's the one thing that will save us, if we are to be saved, in the Ultimate Showdown. Either we have what it takes to make our own decisions and run our own show or we don't deserve to have any show!

There's the real issue involved in the present mix-up. It doesn't matter vitally whether you are an Isolationist or an Interventionist. Circumstances may alter such cases. The one thing that matters supremely is, ARE YOU AN AMERICAN? Do you dare to think for yourself . . . do you dare to demand the truth and freedom on which real thought is based? Or do you depend on "other people's" thoughts to stain your sweatbands and establish your self-respect?

U. S. Warning to Tokyo Came After Olive-Branch Discussions

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Confidential cables to the commerce department report that Axis business firms in South America are shipping their files and records to Japan.

Last week twelve Japanese vessels put in at five different west coast Latin American ports ostensibly to pick up Tokyo-bound mail. What they actually loaded was hundreds of crates filled with the papers and books of Axis businessmen who had been forced out by the U. S. blacklist and the freezing of Axis funds.

Hundreds of Axis firms have shut down all over South America, and thousands of Germans and Italians have been flocking to southern Chile, where there is a large German colony. Their files and papers have followed, all painstakingly marked "mail" and sent to Tocopilla and Coquimbo, Chilean ports, or to Mollendo (Peru), Guayaquil (Ecuador), and Buenaventura (Colombia).

By obvious pre-arrangement, the fleet of 12 Japanese ships arrived at these ports shortly after the records turned up. No effort was made to stop shipment, since the contents of the crates were known to authorities.

Note—Axis funds also are in flight from Latin America, apparently fearful of freezing action. In one case $5,800,000 in U. S. currency owned by a German agent in Brazil was transferred to Santiago, Chile, then to Buenos Aires, where instructions were received to convert the money into salable commodities.

Fish Eggs.

ANNOUNCEMENT that 57-year-old, four-times married Senator Reynolds was to wed 20-year-old Evalyn McLean, $80,000-a-year heiress, brought great jubilation to one man in North Carolina. He is Cam Morrison, whom Reynolds nine years ago unseated chiefly on the issue of Morrison's wealthy wife.

Reynolds did not mince words in making this issue. His campaign speech on the subject was an epic of rabble-rousing. After emphasizing Mrs. Morrison's wealth, Reynolds launched into a colorful description of the "lavish" life his opponent led in Washington. He told how Senator Morrison resided in "one of those great swanky hotels," surrounded by luxury and pomp and an army of flunkies.

Then Reynolds hit his climax: "And when he drives up to this palatial hotel in a long slinky car with a uniformed chauffeur, the flunkies run out and unroll a long red carpet so that Cam won't have to put his feet on the pavement. Then his chauffeur jumps out and opens the door.

"And then, my friends, when Cam sits down to supper, do you know what he eats? He eats ka-vee-ar! Yes, sir, ka-vee-ar. And do you know what ka-vee-ar is? It's fish eggs, my friends, fish eggs!"

That speech cost Cam Morrison his cherished senate seat. But with the news of Bob Reynolds' engagement to an heiress, Morrison is all smiles. "From now on," he chuckles, "even I can lick him."

U. S. Warns Japan.

THE stiff warning Under Secretary of State Welles gave the Japanese ambassador, that the U. S. A. was ready to fight if necessary, came only after a long and patient series of conferences extending back to last May.

The most important of these was a confidential session in the White House of the president himself, Japanese Ambassador Admiral Nomura, Secretary Hull, and Under Secretary Welles. In previous sessions Admiral Nomura and the state department had discussed various plans for a cooperative program in the Orient.

The main concession which the United States demanded was that Japan renounce the declaration of last April, made in Berlin by Foreign Minister Matsuoka and Hitler, which firmly sealed Japan into the Axis.

In return Japan demanded that the United States stop shipping war materials to China. Japan wanted definite guarantees to this effect.

Such guarantees, of course, meant that the United States would completely abandon its program of aiding the democracies, and leave in the lurch the one democracy which has battled longer and more persistently even than Great Britain—China. The administration was not quite prepared to do this.

The negotiations broke down, however, not so much on this point but over doubt whether Admiral Nomura really was able to deliver for the military clique which now runs the government in Tokyo. Also Secretary Hull became ill about that time and left Washington for two months.

Conversations were resumed later and continued until very recently.

But in the interim the Japanese cabinet had become more militaristic than in May and June; so in these later conversations, the state department coupled a very stiff warning with the olive branch. In fact, the warning was probably emphasized more than the olive branch.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Answering the mail orders:

G. P., Frederick, Md.—It is true that Gen. Douglas MacArthur was "demoted" when he was named commanding officer of the "United States army forces in the Far East," but his "demotion" was purely a technical one. As former chief of staff, he was a full four-star general. As commander of the Far East forces, he steps down to his former three-star rank of lieutenant general. That's because only the chief of staff or a former one can be a four-star general.

R. G., Milton, Mass.—The army was not making any effort to "Russianize" the boys on maneuvers in the South this summer when they announced that the "war" there was between "Almat," defended by the Blue army, and "Kotmk" (pronounced Kotmik) defended by the Red army. Almat gets its name from the first letters of the states within its borders—Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee. Kotmk comes from Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and Kentucky.

C. M. M., Jacksonville, Ill.—According to my check, there are 302 lawyers in congress—an even 250 in the house of representatives and 52 in the senate—more than half in both cases.

S. N., Glendale, Calif. — The fight for a unified air force on equal footing with the army and navy certainly is not dead. The National Aeronautic association's recent announcement in favor of a department of national defense, with divisions of air, army and navy, has given fresh impetus to the fight, with the likelihood that both the senate and house soon will open hearings on the matter, with a view to legislation, if that seems desirable.

F. R., Trinidad, Colo.—The report you heard that the army is going to acquire autogiros is true. Thirteen have been ordered to be tested for possible use as "flying observation posts." The army here will not go into details about design, but it is said that they are new and revolutionary. They will have pusher propellers and the ability to make grasshopper take-offs and vertical landings. Present plans, indefinite of course, call for using them for close-to-the-ground observation work over friendly territory.

W. R. B., Girard, Kas. — It would be impossible to list all occupations in the army and navy. It runs into the hundreds. The army recently issued a list of "men wanted," which contained more than 50 occupations, ranging from saddle and harness makers to X-ray photographers and motion picture sound men. The navy list is just as long and runs from awning makers to woodworkers.

T. F., Dallas, Tex.—The carbine, a short, 5-pound rifle, will supplant the army .45-calibre service pistol. All soldiers will not be equipped with them, but I believe the idea is to issue them to all combat troops not armed with rifles. The reason back of it is the reason back of almost all changes in weapons—to increase fire power.

D. W. P., Caldwell, O.—The next big fight in congress and probably one of the better scraps of the year will be on the price control bill. Some observers here expect to see party and sectional lines split before the measure reaches voting stage.

A Farmer's Diary

Community Thresher

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

EARLY this summer, 15 farmers met at our neighborhood Grange hall and community center—originally Honey Creek schoolhouse — to organize their own threshing corporation. They knew of a threshing rig that could be "bought right" because its owner was going out of business.

They elected a president, a secretary-treasurer, and appointed one of their number as engineer and manager while on the job. Each agreed to advance the price of one share—one fifteenth of the cost of the threshing rig—and equitable plans were drawn up for approval.

Each member would pay a stipulated price per bushel for threshing his wheat, oats or barley. Each would be on hand, if needed, to help his neighbor thresh. If one had a larger crop, all helped the same—that member paid the larger sum only because he had more grain.

"How did it work?" I asked one of the men.

"Swell," he declared. "We all were busy threshing every day for two weeks. The women cooked mighty fine noon meals for us—we never stayed for supper. Everybody enjoyed it. Of course 15 men made a good big crew—we got done fast and in good time. We've got the price of the thresher in the treasury right now, and are thinkin' of a corn-cutter and ensilage chopper next."

"And this is just the first year and you've paid for the thresher already?"

"Yeah" — he chuckled — "and charged ourselves a half cent a bushel less than regular price. Of course 'twas an old rig. We're planning another meeting when it's all over with a good, old-fashioned feed. The woman and kids'll come too. We aim to kid ourselves a little and declare a dividend—then share up on the profits.

"Why, up in that community where this rig came from, at first they bought an old machine and an old steam engine. Last year they bought a brand new all modern outfit mounted on rubber! Those farmers are goin' to town up there—just give us time!"

RUSSIANS CLAIM BIG OFFENSIVE SAVES KEY CITY

Assert 20,000 Nazis Killed In Flank Attack; Nazis Launch Giant New 'Blitz.'

than 1,500,000 troops, including 40 to 50 infantry divisions, four to six armored divisions, and 40 to 50 divisions of Italians, Hungarians, Rumanians and Slovaks.

"During the night of Aug. 17-18, our troops continued to fight the enemy along the entire front," a Red army bulletin said tersely.

The Germans said that their forces were closing a trap around the Black sea port of Odessa (normal population, 604,000) and that Soviet defenders of the city, a major base of the Russian Black sea fleet, had only a 25-mile escape gap between Odessa and the Bug river.

A communique from Hitler's field headquarters asserted that the Soviet retreat toward the lower Dnieper was partly assuming the aspects of a rout.

Reports reaching Berlin indicated the Luftwaffe was pounding Soviet naval vessels operating along the north coast of the Black sea but failed to specify whether these ships were evacuating or reinforcing the Odessa garrison.

Elsewhere along the front three German divisions—the 262nd, 94th and 99th infantry—suffered losses ranging from 50 to 80 per cent of their normal strength, which would total approximately 43,500 men, a Moscow communique declared.

Moscow had its 20th air-raid alarm of the war last night but reported none of the raiders got through to the city.

The British pounded Germany and occupied France day and night during the week-end and followed up with raids again last night into sections of the Reich. Only a few German planes were reported over England.

Indications were seen in London, meanwhile, that Britain and Soviet Russia were planning decisive action in Iran, where reports of German infiltrations have brought protests twice from London and Moscow.

British sources estimated that 3,000 Germans in the guise of tourists and technicians have entered Iran, which borders on Russia and India, and were involved in Nazi intrigues.

Moscow announced yesterday the signing of a Russian-British commercial and economic accord. Under it, Britain was expected to send Russia rubber, tin, wool, hides, jute, shellac and similar commodities in exchange for platinum, hemp, flax, manganese, glycerine and timber.

In the Far East, Tokyo newspapers warned the Japanese public that war threatened from all sides as the result of "encirclement" by nations allegedly seeking to strangle the nation economically.

"There is danger of an explosion of the worst eventualities in the east, west, south and north simultaneously," said the Diplomatic Review, frequent outlet of Japanese foreign office opinion.

A Japanese broadcast form To-

A Japanese broadcast from To-Chinese national government was preparing to build 14 airfields in four provinces of China for use by the United States, Great Britain and Russia.

Commenting on U. S. Secretary of War Stimson's announcement that Alaskan defenses were being prepared, the Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi declared:

"We can see in this statement that the Americans plan to form an encircling structure."

The same theme was elaborated in other Japanese newspapers.

In Shanghai, three members of Wang Ching-Wei's personal bodyguard were reported to have been shot and killed in an attack on the Nanking home of the leader of the Japanese-sponsored Chinese regime. Shanghai sources said the attack was instigated by Japanese as a warning to Wang not to make any false moves in his relations with Japan.

Germans Resume Leningrad Attack

LONDON—(INS)—Germany has resumed her offensive against Leningrad, striking along the railroad from Tallinn, Estonian capital, British government authorities said they were advised today.

Reports that the Germans are using from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 German and allied troops in the Ukraine, in addition to four to six panzer divisions and air support also found general confirmation in authoritative circles.

In the Ukraine the Russians continue to withdraw, and indications are that Marshal Semyon Budenny already has succeeded in evacuating most of his army.

Defenses of Odessa were described as sound. Although the city is cut off by land, British officials understood it is not being evacuated, and the possibility was suggested that Odessa may become "another Tobruk." British troops continue to hold Tobruk although the Libyan port has been isolated by land for months.

Grew Confers With Jap Foreign Minister

TOKYO —(AP)— United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew held a lengthy conference late today with Japanese Foreign Minister Teijiro Toyoda, and it was reported their discussion was of the utmost importance.

Grew went to the foreign office at 4 p. m. and had not returned to the embassy two hours later.

Before he saw Toyoda, Eugene H. Dooman, counselor of the United States embassy, was closeted with Japanese Vice Foreign Minister Eigi Amau.

The subjects of the discussions was not disclosed.

The United States state department's announcement on the steamer President Coolidge was reported reliably being studied closely and seriously by the foreign office.

Washington said Saturday that Japan had refused clearance papers to the ship if it sought to move the more than 100 private American citizens now in Japan.

Newspapers warned the Japanese public that war threatened from all sides as the result of encirclement by hostile nations seeking to strangle the nation economically.

The Diplomatic Review, which sometimes expresses foreign office opinion, said Japan's very existence was threatened by the military position taken by these powers who were not named, and said "there is danger of an explosion of the worst eventualities in the east, west, south and north simultaneously."

RESUME WORK

4700 Go Back to Jobs Producing Tank Parts For Britain.

ALLENTOWN, Pa.—(INS)—Vital production of tank transmissions and army trucks for Britain and the United States was resumed at full speed today by 4700 employes of the Mack manufacturing company following settlement of a week-long strike at the Allentown plant.

The agreement called for a wage increase of six cents an hour.

FDR AND HULL TALK ON ORIENT

President Back In Washington To Translate Churchill Pact Into Action.

They were reported to have canvassed the entire far eastern situation in the light of Mr. Roosevelt's earlier statement that his talks with Churchill had brought complete Anglo-American accord regarding developments on every continent.

At the same time, Harry Hopkins, administering the lend-lease program for the president, conferred with Lord Beaverbrook, British supply minister, presumably on methods of obtaining and transporting supplies which the Red army needs immediately to withstand the heightening pressure of German attacks.

These matters awaited Mr. Roosevelt's immediate attention as he returned to his desk in the executive offices:

1. Refusal of Japan to permit the liner S. S. President Coolidge to pick up more than 100 Americans who had been stranded in Tokyo when the sailings of all Japanese ships to the United States were cancelled. It was pointed out in this connection that there are more than 2,000 Japanese nationals who could be detained until Japan agrees to removal of the American citizens.

2. Selection of the American representative to the conference of American, British and Russian officials which Premier Josef Stalin will convene at Moscow soon to implement the Anglo-American promise of greater war-aid. W. Averell Harriman, the president's lend-lease expediter in London, is the most likely choice to represent the United States.

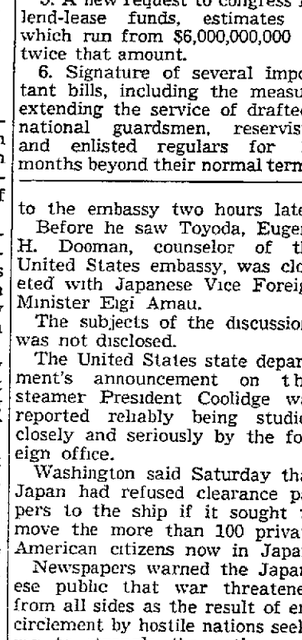
3. A decision as to whether the government should seize the Federal Shipbuilding company shipyards at Kearny, N. J., which have been closed by a strike since Aug. 6, tying up nearly $500,000,000 in navy and maritime commission construction.

4. Speed up defense production to meet the demands of the new schedule of British-American-Russian collaboration against the Axis.

5. A new request to congress for lend-lease funds, estimates of which run from $6,000,000,000 to twice that amount.

6. Signature of several important bills, including the measure extending the service of draftees, national guardsmen, reservists, and enlisted regulars for 18 months beyond their normal terms.

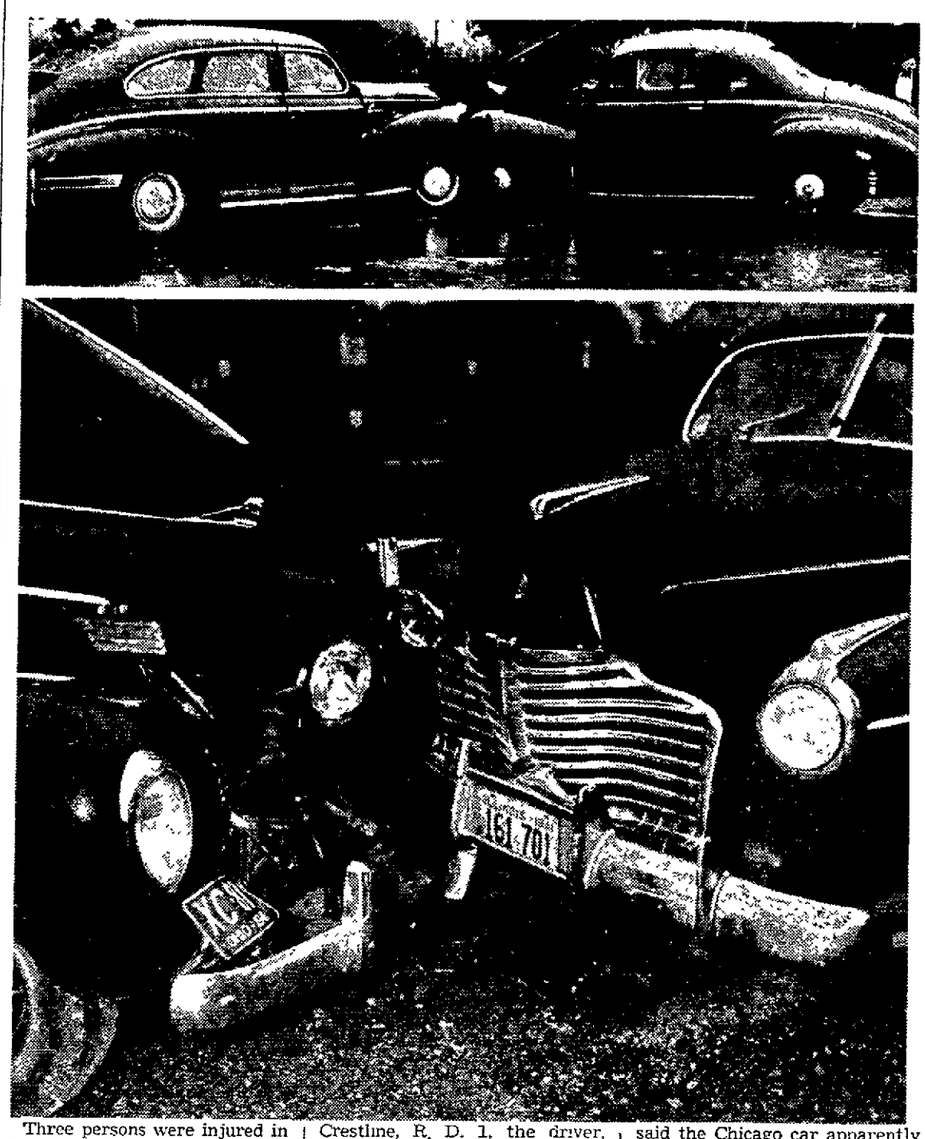
In Disgrace?



Franz von Papen.

Because of his failure to obtain a German-Turkish military pact, rumors in Istanbul state that Franz von Papen, German envoy to Turkey, has been recalled to Berlin. The reports say that Fuehrer Adolf Hitler openly has expressed dissatisfaction with the lack of results from von Papen's efforts.

3 Hurt As These Cars Crash Near City



Three persons were injured in this crash at 8 a. m. today on the intersection of Routs 30-S and 314 west of Mansfield when the cars collided head-on during a shower. Injured in the car at the right in the top picture were Tracy Mathes, 48, Crestline, R. D. 1, the driver, and his wife, Grace. Mathes was treated for chest injuries and his wife for cuts and bruises. Margaret Byrne, 54, a Chicago teacher, driver of the car at the left, received minor injuries. State highway patrolmen said the Chicago car apparently swerved onto Route 30-S from Route 314. Miss Byrne was held on a charge of unsafe operation. The lower picture shows the battered front ends of the cars before garagemen separated them.

which consisted of the single letter "V" with the words "New Jersey State CIO" underneath. Other signs jibed at H. L. Korndorff, president of the company. One read: "No Korny Kontract'."

The demonstration, in which newly arriving pickets were directed to their posts by a loud speaker system, was staged while government officials in Washington considered whether to take possession of the yard and resume production of fighting ships for the navy and other vessels for the maritime commission.

It was predicted that if the company rejects an appeal which President Roosevelt is expected to make, the navy department will take the plant over.

The strike was called when the company rejected a national defense mediation board recommendation for a modified union shop. The union, which originally demanded a closed shop, accepted the board's proposal but the company rejected it and offered to turn the plant over to the navy.

TAX 'GIVE' UP $124,000,000

Defense Boom Boosts Ohio Share In Federal Contribution.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Contribution from Ohio to federal tax revenues increased nearly $124,000,000 for the fiscal year which ended June 30 over the previous year, the bureau of internal revenue reported today.

Reflecting the industrial boom created by the defense program and the increased levies on incomes, Ohio collections rose from $306,140,531 in the fiscal year 1940 to $429,938,982, a gain of 40.4 per cent, the bureau said.

sical, "Panama Hattie." Edna did it all. Red insists she did.

Young Skelton, who was born in 1913 in Vincinnes, Ind., and got his first theatrical experience at the age of 10 tooting a horn in a medicine show, tried his hand as a minstrel, a show boat comedian, a circus clown and a red-nosed burlesque tramp before he met Edna.

"I was 17 and I was playing in Loew's in Kansas city," he reported today. 'Edna Stillwell was head usherette in the balcony. She'd come back stage with our paychecks on Saturday night and she took an instant dislike to me. So okay. I knew a lot of girls."

Red's next job was that of master of ceremonies at one of those weird athletics events known as a walkathon. Edna was cashier. She finally made a date with him. He took her home on a street car. It was a long ride. Red said never again. He knew girls who lived closer.

"And one night they called in the photographer to take some pictures and they wanted a picture of me kissing a girl," Red continued. 'There was Edna and I grabbed her and kissed her and it made me dizzy. This was it. This was love. I guess we both were dizzy. We got married."

Then Red went into vaudeville. He had a 25 week run in Montreal and he began to run out of material. Edna wrote him some. It didn't seem funny to that experienced comedian, Red Skelton, but they laughed.

His wage went up to $1,000 a week. That wasn't enough for Edna. Her husband was a prosperous man, but he made a lot of bad grammatical errors. He'd never had a chance to pass the seventh grade. So she bought some books and started teaching him English and spelling and arithmetic. Then she hired a tutor and forced him to take a high school final examination. He passed it.

The Skelton's came to Hollywood three years ago, with Red earning $2,000 a week for 12 weeks in "Having a Wonderful Time." He was funny, but the picture was bad. You remember Ginger Rogers and Doug Fairbanks, jr.

Back to the stage went Red and he went broke because he wouldn't accept any job under $1,000 a week. Edna made him stick to that.

Then he got a coast-to-coast program and soon he was clicking in vaudeville—and at Edna's price She invested his money in real estate and kept on writing his jokes, and there was Red in Washington at the Earl theater last winter when the Hollywood contingent arrived for the president's birthday ball.

"Edna says we came to Hollywood because she owned a pair of slacks and a mink coat and this was the only place she could wear 'em," Red said. "That isn't so. She was just making up a gag. What happened was that Mickey Rooney caught our show. He liked it. He went to Nick Schenck in New York about me. Then he went to Louis B. Mayer in Hollywood. So Metro brought me out here. Mickey is the boy who did it."

That's the story to date of Red Skelton, as related at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Edna wasn't there. Red said she was home thinking up jokes for him so he wouldn't have to go back to bottling epsom salts, brown sugar and river water for the medicine show.

But we'll meet her yet.

U. S. PROTESTS JAP DETENTION

Strong Representations Made To Tokyo as Citizens Are Kept From Liner.

ernment's request was made rather hurriedly because the President Coolidge was about to leave Shanghai for home, and no Japanese foreign office official may have wanted to accept responsibility for approving the request without consultation with higher authorities.

The second theory is that the refusal may have something to do with the Japanese government's efforts to persuade the United States to agree to a resumption of normal trade relations, now at a virtual standstill as a result of this government's imposition of drastic economic sanctions against the Nippon empire.

The Japanese, it is thought, may have regarded the proposed entry of the President Coolidge into a Japanese port to pick up American private citizens as a procedure of normal trade relations, and may have felt that refusal would hasten a clarification of the extent to which this government is prepared to resume normal commercial relations with the Nippon empire.

While the state department is prepared to facilitate the return to Japan of any Japanese citizens in this country who may wish to return home, it is not disposed to tie up the repatriation of American citizens with the broader question of trade relations.

It is hoped that the representations already made will be sufficient to permit early arrangements for the return home of the 100 private American citizens, but if not, a stronger diplomatic protest is likely to be made.

MARJORIE DRAKE WEDS R. D. HUFFMAN SUNDAY

Open Church Service Solemnized for Young Couple At St. Luke's Lutheran Church With Reception Later At Drake Home.

IVORY satin fashioned the Empire style wedding gown worn by Miss Marjorie Drake for her marriage to Richard Dean Huffman Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the St. Luke's Lutheran church. The formal gown was made with a high waistline and the neckline was finished with an insert of shirred net. Long tight sleeves ended in points at the wrist and the skirt fell in graceful folds which ended in a train of the shimmering satin. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Her double veil was made of bridal illusion, one shoulder length and the other finger tip. It was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. Miss Drake carried a front style bouquet of stephanotis and Sweetheart roses tied with bows of white maline.

The single ring service was solemnized in the presence of many relatives and friends with Rev. Grover Swoyer officiating. Palms, ferns and two beauty baskets of white gladioli, white asters and euphorbia formed an attractive decoration for the chancel. Two brass altar vases filled with white glads and asters decorated either side and altar candles burned on the altar with two seven-branch candelabra placed among the palms. White satin ribbons marked the pews.

Preceding the nuptials appropriate music was played by Mrs. Clayson Bell, organist, and sung by J. Frederick Wolf, soloist. The selections included "Liebestraum," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Indian Love Call," "Because" and "O Promise Me." Mr. Frank Drake gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Eileen Minard was maid of honor for Miss Drake and wore a formal gown of Romance blue silk jersey with V-neckline, and softly draped bodice. The floor length skirt fell in folds from a graceful waistline. Her bouquet was the same style as the bride's and was composed of pink roses, light blue delphinium, yellow glad tips and pale lavendar pompon asters.

Dean Robinson was best man for Mr. Huffman. Ushering the guests to their seats were Francis J. Drake, brother of the bride, Robert W. Stone, Robert A. Bonham, Peter J. Merschdorf, all of Mansfield.

Mrs. Drake was attired in a navy blue frock with white accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias and stephanotis tied with white satin ribbons. Mrs. Huffman's frock was defense blue with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses and euphorbia, tied with pink satin ribbons.

Immediately following the service a reception was held for relatives and friends at the home of the bride's parents. The long serving table was centered with a low oblong arrangement of white gladioli, white roses and euphorbia and the large tiered wedding cake was placed at one end of the table for the buffet luncheon.

Late in the day Mr. and Mrs. Huffman left for a trip to Geneva on the Lake and after Aug. 24 will reside at 25 North Bowman street. For traveling Mrs. Huffman wore a navy blue frock with light blue accessories. Her corsage was of Sweetheart roses and stephanotis, tied with pink satin ribbons.

The bride is a graduate of Madison high school and is a member of the Alpha Pi Sigma sorority. Mr. Huffman was graduated from the Mansfield Senior high school and is a member of the Phalanx fraternity. He is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company and Mrs. Huffman at the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drake, 481 Lawn avenue, South Boulevards, and Mrs. Huffman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolla A. Huffman, 136 East First street.

Out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. William Huffman of Marysville, Mr. and Mrs. Gay Townsend of Sandusky, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hammond and Phil Robinson of Mt. Vernon.

POWELL-WOLF VOWS EXCHANGED SUNDAY

Miss Natalie Powell and John Wolf United In Marriage At the First Methodist Church Sunday Afternoon At 4 O'clock.

GIVEN in marriage by her father, Miss Natalie Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Powell of Lexington avenue, exchanged nuptial vows with John Wolf, 552 Johns avenue, yesterday afternoon at the First Methodist church. The open church ceremony was solemnized at 4 o'clock before an altar decorated with palms, ferns and beauty baskets of gladioli. Rev. E. G. Corwin officiated for the single ring service.

In a sheer beige crepe street length frock, fashioned with a fitted jacket, the bride approached the altar. Her ensemble was completed with attractive brown accessories and she wore a corsage or roses and white gladioli tips. Attending Miss Powell was Miss Anna Marie McQuaid, who was attired in a navy blue crepe frock with navy accessories. She wore a corsage of red and white gladioli tips.

Donald Grace, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. Escorting the guests to their seats were Paul Hannewald and Kenneth Layland. Nuptial music was played by Miss Olive Jean Hughes, organist, whose selections were "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by Victor Herbert, "I Love You Truly" by Bond and "Intermezzo" by Provost. During the ceremony Miss Hughes played softly "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" by Stultz, and preceding the service the traditional wedding march.

Many friends and relatives witnessed the pretty wedding uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Powell and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wolf of Altoona, Pa.

Immediately following the nuptials a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families and the bridal party.

Later in the evening the young couple left for a trip through the east. For traveling Mrs. Wolf wore a brown and aqua wool suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was of gladioli tips.

Mrs. Wolf is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed at the Fanny Farmer Candy Shop. Mr. Wolf attended schools in Altoona, and is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Surprise Party Given For Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Bemiller, South Boulevards, were honored with a surprise party Saturday evening at their home in honor of their 19th wedding anniversary by members of the Homemakers class of the First Christian church. Thirty members were in attendance.

Guests presented the couple with a gift. The evening was spent socially. Luncheon was served at the close of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Bemiller have served as teacher and assistant teacher of the class for the past four years.

Go Easy In Pre-School Teaching

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Thousands of conscientious mothers are wondering what their child should be taught before entering school.

In the sense of formal teaching, as of reading, spelling and arithmetic, the child had better have no teaching at all before he enters the first grade.

It might, however, do no harm, even do some good, if he learned a few of the letters of the alphabet. Also he might learn to print a few of them. He might also learn to recognize, at play, some of the number symbols from 1 to 10, to count that far and to get the meaning of numbers. Play with domino blocks is useful to this end. Play with Flinch cards is helpful to get acquainted with the names and figures and to learn their relative order values.

Names of Objects.

Some parents had better not bother about these matters at all, because they may grow too eager, press the child too far and expect too much of him, and cause him to hate these things before he enters school.

Because the young child's eyes are poorly coordinated, it is not wise to teach him to read before he enters the first grade. Not what he can do, but what it is well for him to do, is a good rule. If, to make you happy, you must do something toward his reading, make a few large placards with words printed boldly on them, one to each card, as the name of a familiar object about the home, attaching each card to the appropriate object. Then the child at play can easily learn a few such words.

Cultivate Concentration.

About the best thing you can do for him is to read to him for about 15 minutes once or twice a day. There is no better way to cultivate good habits of listening attentively and good concentration habits. Don't ask him to say back the rhymes or tell the story.

He needs to have much experience at play with numerous other children about his age, so he can learn to fight his own battles and settle his own quarrels and be happy out of the sight of his mother.

He needs to have learned self-reliance—to feed himself, dress himself and bring himself in from play on a regular signal.

He especially needs to have learned the meaning of NO, for safety, regards for the rights of others and respect for authority.

A list of books for reading to the baby and young child may be had, without cost, by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. A selected list of books and pamphlets for parents to help them guide their child happily may be had in like fashion.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"I wonder if my ears are failing me," I told Mary. "Do you mean to tell me that you have sufficient information concerning Stephen Redfield to warrant your father-in-law in giving his role to someone else?"

"That's exactly what I said," she affirmed.

"It seems incredible," I said still too astonished to do more than mouth incoherent protestations. "And yet you said it was no personal grievance of yours."

"Nor of anybody's," Mary responed promptly.

"I have known Philip Veritzen a long time," I said, still groping for comprehension of her words.

"He is perfectly capable of dismissing a valued member of his cast for a breach against his own discipline, or for some gross personal offense to him or someone dear to him — provided he, himself, first notices the offense. But he strongly resents being advised on anything.

"I was terribly nervous when I told him the reason I wanted to see Redfield was because I had heard something which vaguely connected him with the happenings tonight, and immensely relieved when he accepted my statement and permitted me to talk to Redfield. But, of course, I made no direct accusation against Steve. You remember, I said it might be my imagination."

"It wasn't, I'll bet," Mary said. "I heard Steve ask you about Jack Bickett.

"Did your father-in-law?" I asked quickly.

"I don't think he heard anything of the colloquy," Mary said. "He's not stone deaf, but he's harder of hearing than he'd like to admit."

"He is also hard to convince," I said. "The surest way to make him a strong defender of a member of his organization is to attack, or even to criticize, that person. Forgive me, Mary, but are you sure?"

"If you mean am I sure in my own three-penny brain," Mary replied, with her familiar gamin grin, "the answer is yes, three times over. But if you mean, have I enough evidence to convince my revered father-in-law, then the reply is nix, no, nil, and all the rest of it."

Mary Has a Plan.

"Then how," I began, and stopped short, arrested by the gay, confident look on her face.

"Because I'm going to tole him along as if he were a horse, and I had an apple in my hand, until he does his own investigating. And if I know him—and I think I do—while he's investigating, he'll be throwing out two or three sheets to windward. And that, translated, means to other actors who would click with our deah public in Stephen's role."

"Are you in a position to share this information about Redfield with me?" I asked.

"Why, of course, every last crumb of it," she said. "I thought you understood that."

"I just wanted it confirmed." I told her smiling. "And I shall be eager to hear every word of it. But before you begin, I want to know where Noel and Redfield are, and whether there will be any more—"

"Fireworks?" she interpolated, and from the nuance of her voice and her flashing grin, I knew that her resilient spirits again had completed the journey from the nadir to the zenith, which Mary's spirits frequently travel after an even more rapid descent.

Noel Like a Lamb.

"No, not even a teeny-weeny fire-cracker," she went on. "Noel was a lamb when he finally got it through his head that I really loathed Steve, and had been stringing him along for my own fell purposes."

She laughed reminiscently, and there was a tender naunce in her mirth.

"What queer, cussed creatures men are!" she philosophized. "As long as Noel believed I was interested in Stevie, he was ready to take him apart in sections, as if Steve were an orange or something. And then, when I convinced him he was all wet on that score, and began to tell him some of the things I had found out and my deductions from them, he sprang to Stevie's defense — as one man to another, understand—and said I must be totally mistaken, and that he didn't believe a word of it. Can you tie that into any kind of a knot?"

Says Noel Could Help.

"I can understand why Noel said that," I told her quietly, "and I shall not be surprised to find out that he really believes part, at least, if not all of what you told him."

"Then you'll do the finding out," she retorted. "I'll never try to prove it to him, although he could help in checking up on Steve and his activities. But the high-hatting he gave me was enough and then some.

"And I'd like to know why you think he really believed what I told him about Redfield, when he 'laughed me to scorn,' just like the old melodramas, at the very idea."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

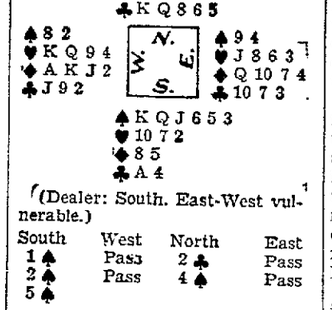
BY

Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

A TRUTH RECOGNIZED

Many bridge instructors have been saying for years that a singleton in the hand of the original bidder of a suit has no value, that a singleton, doubleton or void is of value only when held by the dummy, thereby furnishing a place to use the dummy's trumps effectively. They have held that length of suits and high cards are the only useful elements in the hand of the first bidder of the eventual trump suit, completely disregarding the value of the time factor and the earlier ability of the declarer to gain the lead when he is short in the suit led by the opponents.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

As we have always maintained, a singleton in the declarer's hand can have a very real value, over and beyond the fact that its presence causes some other suit to be a card longer than if it were a doubleton. Others stubbornly refused for years to admit that fact, but now have come around to it, counting the possession of a singleton as a "plus value," something less than half a trick, because sometimes it is worth a whole trick or more, and on other occasions worth nothing; it may even be a liability on rare occasions.

To appreciate how a singleton can help, just notice the hand above. Suppose South could swap his diamond 5 for East's heart 3. This would lengthen his hearts by one, but that would not give him any better hand. The timing factor would be worth a whole trick, however. West then could take only one diamond trick. South could ruff the second diamond, drop trumps and on dummy's clubs could discard all three of South's losing hearts, thus making a small slam. With a diamond doubleton, as the hand is shown, South has to lose two diamond tricks before he can embark on his own plan of campaign.

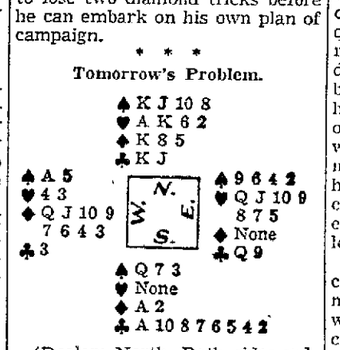
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

With the diamond Q led, how should South play at 6-Clubs in order to take all of the tricks?

Mother Forces Girl to Leave Family Home

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Did you ever hesitate over a bargain because you thought it too good to be true?

Please acquit me of cynicism if I say the bargain-counter figure of speech may be applied to your daughter, if you are too eager to see her married. Certain mothers, still in awe of Queen Victoria's crepe veil, which cast its deportment shadow over these United States for two generations, continue to subscribe to the Victorian tenets of marriage. According to the old Queen, better for a girl to marry any shambling apology for a man than not to marry at all. Few modern girls agree to this. As for example:

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"Last week I cut the strings that bound me to my old home where mother, father, three younger sisters and a brother made up the only close ties I held in life. I broke these not without a wrench and the shedding of many bitter tears. But I couldn't stand my mother's frantic efforts to get me married.

"Two years ago I graduated from high school and wanted to take vocational training and find a job. I wasn't career-mad, and in my secret heart I hoped some time I'd meet the right man, marry him, have a home and children—all the things dear to real women since the time of Eve.

"But mother had her own ideas—to get me married as soon after my graduation as possible. Not that mother's marriage to father had been the perfect Garden-of-Eden romance. But mother saw nothing for a girl outside of marriage to anything at all in trousers.

"We girls and boys who had graduated together from high school kept up our old associations. We tried to see something of each other. We exchanged parties at each other's houses. We picnicked and we danced together, and some of the bunch got jobs.

"A good many of the boys went on to college. I don't think more than one or two, perhaps, in our crowd were in position to marry. These were the sons of rich men, and they were more interested in the Country Club set than they were in us Still there was poor mother, crying my perfections like an auctioneer.

"When she realized—as I could have told her the day after I got my diploma—that none of my fellow classmen were in a position to marry until they had secured jobs and earned decent salaries, mother set to work on older men. She brought up acquaintances of fairly well-to-do relatives — widowers with children my age, dyed-in-the-wool bachelors, divorced men paying heavy alimony. They were all one to mother. These, and what were left of the younger set, she invited to the house, telling them how economical I was, how I could make my own dresses, never spent money on a beauty parlor, how well I could cook.

"It got to be the joke of our crowd. I stayed home more and more, and when I went out I was so self-conscious that I became a pitiful specimen. No one was interested in me because mother had tried too hard to get me off her hands. In my despair I answered an advertisement for 'Mother's Helper' in a big city, one hundred miles from where we live. I wanted to get away from mother's booming of me and my perfections.

"I joined the 'Y' and I found a little room in a girl's club. This I had money enough to pay for, out of presents of money given me by relatives, from time to time. I don't intend to keep on with my present job, but it's better than having mother trying to dispose of me like some marked-down commodity on a bargain counter. I intend to get up my shorthand and typing and strike for a government job in Washington, D. C.

"UNMARRIAGEABLE GIRL"

If this letter should meet the eye of a mother like this girl's, I hope she'll read, mark well and inwardly digest.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Aug. 19.

A very lively and probably exciting day is the augury based on an intriguing chain of planetary configurations. Unusual headway may be made under quickened mental, nervous and physical energies, especially through contracts, agreements, writings, publishings and promotional enterprises. These should reach satisfactory culmination through dexterity, skill, even artifice or subtlety, but would be defeated by rash, forced, impulsive or angry treatment. Social, domestic, or sentimental obligations may come up for decision and invite most pleasurable contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an exceedingly lively and pleasant year if much astute, clever and subtle manipulation be exercised in dubious or perplexing situations. Impetuosity, haste, strife or recklessness might prove fatal. Writings, of a high or inspired order, should thrive, and publications, advertising, promotion, and intellectual pursuits of all angles are under benefic vibrations. Social, domestic and affectional affiliations call for consideration or duty where elders may be concerned. But it should be a very promising and happy year for the young and eager, if due restraints reign.

A child born on this day may have diversified talents, with literary or other professional abilities of marked degree. But in these as in general conduct sharp restraints are recommended, lest regret and peril follow.

ACCEPTS 'Y' POST

GALION—Lewis Bodley, Lakewood, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bodley, this city, has accepted a position with the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A. staff as head of boys and young men's activities of the Norwood branch. He recently resigned his position as director of a Cleveland settlement house.

Flying Mansfield Braves Drop Fostoria Red Birds 5-4

SPORTS ROUNDUP
By Eddie Brietz

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Pinch-hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service — Week's wash: Jack Dempsey opens a three-months tour with the Cole Brothers Circus today at Bluefield, W. Va.....Col Matt. Winn, who made the Kentucky derby what it is, will be guest of honor at Saratoga tonight when the folks who helped him run racing at Juarez, Mexico, back in the old days stage a get-together . . . . Howard Johnston, who was N. C. A. A. rasslin' champ in 1935, got his doctor's degree in dairy husbandry from Penn State the other day....And no cracks about his trowing the bull!

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Carl L. Hogendorn, North English (Ia.) Record: "So our next-door neighbor from Norway, Iowa, Hal Trosky of the Cleveland Indians, is having bad headaches. Could it be that he is getting a few of those back that he helped to give Oscar Vitt last year?"

ROOKIE ROUNDUP

The Dodgers have a red-hot pitching prospect in Victor Lombardi of their Johnstown (Pa.) class D farm...He's a little guy, fresh out of high school, and the scouts didn't pay much attention to him until he began striking out an average of 15 a game... One of the big reasons for the success of the Camp Upton team is Catcher Hank Bunowski, who belonged to the Tigers until Uncle Sam grabbed him...Connie Mack considered himself lucky to have first call on Don Richmond, Williamsport third-sacker, but the army may get priority...The Reds report that Outfielder Eddie Lukin, up from Knoxville, made a swell impression in his big league debut...Mebbe they lukon him as a great prospect.

Connie Mack, denying rumors that Jimmy Dykes had been offered a job managing the A's, said the only guy who will succeed him is his son, Earl...Lou Nova is the tenth guy Ray Arcel has trained to fight Louis...And look what happened to the other nine...Folks who know say the gambling lid has been clamped down tighter at Saratoga this year than ever before.

Locomotives Bow To Willard Club

The Plymouth Locomotives bowed to the Willard V. F. W. club 4-3 in a close fought tilt at Willard yesterday.

Willard's Moore held the Locomotives to six bingles as his mates hammered Owens for ten hits.

* * *

Weber and Simonds sparked the winners' attack, Weber getting two out of three while Simonds made two out of four, one of his hits a rousing two bagger.

DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIPS LACKS STAR PLAYERS

BROOKLINE, Mass —(AP)— Absence of any outstanding team in the men's, women's and mixed doubles events gave promise that the 60th annual national doubles championships, opening today at Longwood Cricket club, might produce several surprises before the titles are settled.

* * *

The defending men champions, top-seeded Ted Schroeder, Glendale, Calif., and Jack Kramer, Los Angeles, are not cut-and-dried proposition to repeat.

Menacing contenders are the three other seeded combines: Frank Parker, Altadena, Calif., and Don McNeill, Oklahoma City; Wayne Sabin, Portland, Ore., and Gardner Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.; and Bobby Riggs, Chicago, and Gene Mako, San Francisco.

SNEAD ADDS TIMES-UNION VICTORY TO STRING

ROCHESTER, N. Y. —(U P)— Sammy Snead, West Virginia's sharpshooting golfer was $1,200 richer today as a result of his victory in the first annual $5,000 Rochester Times-Union Open golf tournament.

Snead stroked the Oak Hill Country club course yesterday in 67, one over the course record, to compile a 72 hole total of 277—three under par for the distance and seven strokes in front of his nearest competitor.

* * *

Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., leading money player of the year, carded the same score for the final round but placed second with 284.

Gromek Faces Senators

Tribe Loses Boudreau and Trosky on Injured List.

CLEVELAND—(AP)— The battered Indians, beaten 12 times in their last 13 starts, in desperation selected Rookie Steve Gromek to pitch against Washington tonight in the opener of a two-week home stand. A right-hander, Gromek was purchased last week from the Flint club of the Michigan State league.

The Senators, tied for last place with St. Louis, nominated Southpaw Ken Chase.

Adding to the woes of the Redskins, Lou Boudreau and Hal Trosky were injured in yesterday's double defeat in Chicago. Boudreau strained his side and the big first baseman sprained a thumb. When Lou missed the second tussle, it snapped his 321 consecutive-game streak.

* * *

The setbacks, charged to Bob Feller and Al Milnar, dropped the Indians into third place where they hold only a fractional point lead over the Red Sox. Chicago has a one-game edge on the Tribe.

Feller was pounded for 10 hits in seven innings and lost his 10th decision, 8 to 2. Milnar was beaten in the 10th inning, 4 to 3.

The young fireballer thus failed for a fourth straight time to win his 21st victory. He struck out only one batter and after the third inning was hit freely.

Ted Lyons meanwhile scattered 10 Cleveland singles effectively to beat the Indians a fifth time this season.

Chicago touched Milnar and Clint Brown for 14 hits in the nightcap but had trouble connecting in the pinches and left 10 runners stranded. Ray Mack's seventh home run was the big blow in Cleveland's six-hit attack against Edgar Smith.

The National league serves the dessert course this week.

Up to now, it's been a little of this and a little of that in Ford Frick's fiesta, and some of the boys got a ham sandwich and some come up with a juicy steak. The Brooklyn Dodgers found a choice tid-bit yesterday in the Boston Braves and are resting, at the moment, at the head of the table by a half game. The St. Louis Cardinals picked a tough order of beef in the Pittsburgh Pirates and sank out of first place with a doubleheader split.

But beginning today, the table's cleared again and the pennant pie is trotted out. The Cardinals lead the eastern charge of the western invaders for the last time this year. And by a week from tomorrow, when the new gas-house gang and the re-built bums of the Gowanus wind up a four-game series, you'll probably have a fair-to-middlin' idea just who is going to have the pleasure of being offered up to the New York Yankees in the World series.

The Bronx Dandies mowed down Connie Mack's Athletics yesterday, 2-1, and 4-3, to push their league lead up to 17 games, with only 35 to go. It's all downhill now, especially since Cleveland has dropped out of second place.

The Cards move in for six games with the soft touches in Boston and Philadelphia as warm-up work for the start of the Dodger series next Sunday. The Brooklyns, meanwhile, entertain the Pirates and the Chicago Cubs.

The whole business appears to rest on the right-hand elbowing equipment of Kirby Higbe and Whitey Wyatt so far as Brooklyn is concerned, while the Cards have to do their riding on the left wing of Ernie White and the right arm of Mort Cooper.

Brooklyn's front-line flingers performed yesterday. First Higbe served up a five-hitter to scalp the Braves, 5-1. Then Wyatt went out there and for 8⅓ innings he had the first perfect game in nearly 20 years. But, with one gone in the ninth, Phil Masi, a fearful batsman with an average currently soaring in the .230's, poked a pitch over second base for a single. Wyatt wound up with that one-hitter for a 3-0 whitewash job.

The Cards, meanwhile sailed into Pittsburgh in the first game as though they owned the Bucs. Sparked by a four-run first-inning rally, they coasted to a 7-1 decision behind Mort Cooper's seven-hit throwing. In the nightcap, the Pirates piled up an 8-2 edge, largely through a six-run second-inning party. Long Lon Warneke was belted out of the box for the third straight time.

The Phillies drew 6,587 to Shibe Park—their biggest crowd since June 6—to watch the local boys larrup Bill Terry's humpty-dumpty Giants twice, 6-2 and 18-2.

The Cincinnati Reds ran their winning streak to six games in the opener of their twin bill with the Cubs by clicking for a 6-3 victory behind Bucky Walters' steady tossing. But in the nightcap old Charley Root finally won the 199th game of his career by taking a 4-2 decision.

Buck Newsom and George Caster exchanged Grade-A pitching performances in St. Louis, Buck hurled the Tigers to an 8-1 win over the Browns in the opener with a five-hit job. Caster came along then and tossed a three-hitter for a 6-1 victory in the afterpiece.

Sid Hudson stopped the Boston Red Sox with five hits to pitch the Washington Senators to a 6-2 victory.

Gives System For Prophets

Pigskin Enthusiasts Told How To Select.

By HARRY FERGUSON

NEW YORK—(UP) — You must hurry because there are only about three weeks left in which to become a pigskin prophet—a guy who sits down on Wednesday of each week and decides who is going to win the college football games on the coming Saturday.

The pigskin prophets are off to a flying start this year. Already there have fallen on this battered desk 14 applications from all over the country from gentlemen—and one lady—who claim to have an infallible system for picking winners. These 14 prophets want to sell me this information so that I, in turn, can pass it along to you and all of us can get rich by betting with our friends on whether Slippery Rock Normal will defeat Podunk State Teachers college. In case one of your friends happens to buy information from a prophet, then it will be a case of the irresistible force meeting the immovable object.

The emergence of the pigskin prophets is only one manifestation of what sports writers call "the autumn madness"—the desire of the great American public to bet on football games. But before you purchase the prophecies of any prophet, please remember that you, too, can be a prophet. All you need is a schedule, a pencil and some paper on which to record your prophecies.

Of course, you are going to be wrong a lot of times, but don't let that stop you. It never stopped me, and I'm a pigskin prophet as you shall find out to your sorrow when the season gets under way. Most pigskin prophets are lucky if they have an average of .667.

But in case you want to climb up to around .998, here are a few simple rules:

1. Make prophecies on as many games as possible and by all means don't confine your predictions to the closest 20 games in the country. The more games you pick, the more so-called "pushovers" you are going to get.

2. Be able to tell on Wednesday the exact weather conditions on every major gridiron in the country for the following Saturday. Then you will be able to apply the principle that a heavy team with a good ground attack has the advantage in the mud over a light team that depends on passing.

3. Demand from each coach in the country a list right now of the games he is point for. That's important, because Yale, for instance, is satisfied to lose every game on the schedule so long as they can beat Harvard.

Possessing this information, you have a good chance to compile an average of .998. A margin of error is left because a blocked punt sometimes invalidates the best of prophecies. In case you have a bad Saturday sit down and write all your friends about the "wave of upsets" that swept college gridirons.

STELLA BREAKS RECORDS

FREMONT, O.—(INS)—Winning three events in a Fremont track meet, Stella Walsh of Cleveland today saw her own world records shattered. She dashed over the 60-yard distance in 6.9 seconds and negotiated the 70-yard distance in 8.1 seconds. Her old marks were 7 seconds for the 60 and 8.2 for the 70.

Trapshoot Underway

Seven Championships Settled at Vandalia.

VANDALIA —(AP)— Preliminary events out of the way except for a three-way shootoff in the Vandalia Open Handicap, an anticipated record field today cracked the first clays in the five-day 42nd Grand American trapshoot program.

* * *

Seven national championships were up for decision.

Holding the morning spotlight, however, were W. S. Golden of Columbus, , Jack Bruns of Wood River, Ill., and C. E. Heaton of Fairfax, Iowa, who were deadlocked at 98 of 100 in the handicap when darkness overtook them Sunday.

With the number of entries running well over last year, Grand American officials emphasized speed in getting shooters on and off the firing lines.

In the handicap Sunday there were 323 contestants against 213 a year ago, and in the 16-yard open championships, won by Karl Maust of Columbus, O., there were 241 against 190 last year.

Maust, a former professional and winner of the North American clay target crown 10 years ago, broke 200 straight targets. Seven other amateurs and two professionals had 199 of 200.

Winning the dubious distinction of making the lowest score ever achieved in the Grand American program was Leonard A. Edsall of Dayton, firing from 22 yards in the handicap.

Edsall broke 15 of his first 25 targets, got the first, 12th and last of his next 25, cracked only three more in his next 25 and two in the last batch for a 23 of 100 total.

SWIM MARKS FALL IN A. A. U. CHAMPIONSHIPS

HIGH POINT, N. C.—(INS)—The Riviera club of Indianapolis held team honors today in the wake of the three-day national women's A. A. U. swimming tournament, which saw six new records go into the books.

Nancy Merki, 14-year-old Portland, Ore., star, broke her second long distance mark yesterday by winning the 800 meter freestyle in 11 minutes, 16.5 seconds, bettering her own record of 11:19.9, set in 1939. Earlier in the meet, the petite young westerner swam the 1,500 meter freestyle in 22 minutes, 12.2 seconds, smashing the record of 23:39.2 set by Lenore Knight Wingard of Cincinnati in 1936.

* * *

In the first two days of competition, new records were set in the 800 meter freestyle relay, the 100 meter breaststroke, the 200 meter breaststroke, and the 800 meter freestyle.

ANNOUNCE SALE

FOSTORIA—(AP)—The Fostoria Red Birds of the Class D Ohio State league have announced sale of Outfielder Lester Pruett, 21, of Vandalia, Ill., to Meridian (Miss.) of the Southeastern league.

Akron Lad Wins Soap Box Derby

AKRON, O.—(AP)—Claude Smith of Akron, first local boy to win the international soap box derby in its eight-year history, grinned broadly today and avowed the 10 months he labored building his shiny black racer were well spent.

For his 900 hours work, 14-year-old Claude gained the cheers of 50,000 spectators, a $2,000 college scholarship, and the event's all-American and international titles.

The $10 speedster, sponsored in the race by the Akron Beacon Journal, outclassed 116 other entries from all sections of the United States, Canada, Mexico and Alaska.

WINS TWO OHIO VALLEY TENNIS TOURNEY CROWNS

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Marshall Chambers of Cincinnati, 1940 Ohio High School champion, won the junior and men's singles and was co-winner of the men's doubles title in the eight-day Ohio Valley Tennis Association tournament which ended yesterday.

In the men's singles finals Chambers defeated Harold Eckardt of Rye, N. Y., Dartmouth college tennis captain, 6-2, 6-0, 0-6, 6-2.

With Joe O'Brien of Cincinnati, Chambers won the men's doubles from Price and Billy Friel of Portsmouth, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0.

Providents Rally To Win

Late Two Run Barrage Defeats Hi-Speed Club.

The Mansfield Provident Loans, girls' state softball champions, sank the Painesville Hi-Speed club 5-3 yesterday in a game that saw the Loans come from behind to cop the decision.

The Loans were outscored 3-0 going into the last of the third. A two run rally in the third, another marker in the fifth and a final barrage of two runs in the sixth put the game away for the champions.

Peters sparked the winners with a perfect day at bat getting two for two. Fran Knapp set the Hi-Speeds down with seven bingles while the champions were being held to seven hits by Shepard.

Tighten Hold on 2nd Place With Victory

Singles By Bob Kuzava and Ankrum Score Winning Run

THE Mansfield Braves stuck to the heels of the league leading Fremont Green Sox last night as they set down the Fostoria Red Birds 5-4, but Chappy Geygan's lads climbed back into their winning ways after Saturday's lapse at the hands of the Braves to keep on the pace five and one half games out in front. The pace setters dropped Findlay 15-1.

The Braves jumped on Fostoria in the second, fifth and eighth to ease the Red Birds back another notch in their chase of second place.

The second inning saw Bill Salem safe on first baseman Frey's error, Boss Clowson singling to score Salem on another error by the Red Birds' center fielder Waters. Clowson took third on the error and Dick Morse hammered out a single to score Clowson for the Braves' two runs.

The Braves really got on the beam in the fifth as Bobbie Ankrum and Bill Reinka singled, TeStruth fanned, and then successive singles by Mangan and Salem plated Ankrum and Reinka for another two-run haul.

In the meantime Fostoria pushed across a marker in the fifth that tied the score at two-all. The Braves waited an inning and then in the first of the eighth the lightning struck.

Bob Kuzava walked up to the plate and pushed out a single. Ankrum, not to be outdone by his mate, lashed a single to centerfield that brought Kuzava all the way home with the winning run. The inning ended without further action.

Jim Coleman set the Red Birds down with seven bingles as he fanned 10 of the Fostoria ashwielders.

Slated to face Fostoria at the Fairground today at 8 p. m. will be either Kuzava or Wolpert. It will be the last home game for the Braves this week as the club will bow out to the county fair and midget auto racing for the remainder of the week.

Toledo Stops Birds Streak

Split Double-Bill With Front-Running Club.

(By United Press)

The Columbus Red Birds left Toledo today, minus a game of their American Association lead.

The Birds went to Toledo Saturday, eight games ahead and with a record of nine straight wins. Toledo ended the winning streak by taking one side of a double-header. The Birds and the Mud Hens split another double-header yesterday, the Hens taking the opener, 14 to 3, and the Birds winning the nightcap, 8 to 0.

* * *

The winning pitchers were the stars in both games. Johnny Marcum scattered 12 hits in the first game, and scored three runs. Murry Dickson blanked the Hens in the nightcap with a five-hitter and made four hits that scored four runs.

* * *

Louisville won a double-header, 4 to 0 and 5 to 4, from Indianapolis, and eased into second place, a half game over Kansas City. Louisville won the opener easily behind Emerson Dickman's four-hit pitching.

Kansas City and Milwaukee broke even. The Blues took an early lead in the opener and won it, 8 to 7. The Brewers won the six-inning nightcap, 5 to 1, Nick Strincevich pitching a four-hitter.

Fourth-place Minneapolis and St. Paul split a double-header. Minneapolis won the first game, 6 to 2. Ken Raffensburger and Harry Kelley had the seven-inning nightcap tied up, 1 to 1, in a pitchers' duel, when Left Fielder Fern Bell connected with a homer, and St. Paul won, 2 to 1.

Shelby League Play To Be Completed

SHELBY — Two postponed games in the Shelby Softball league scheduled for municipal water company field on North Gamble street this week, will complete the second round of the league play.

The second round leading Cycle Co. will play the Plymouths at 6:15 p. m. today, while Shelby Salesbook Co. meets the Ohio Seamless Tube Co. in the other game Tuesday night.

The three-game championship series between the winner of the second round and the Ohio Seamless Tube Co. team, winner of the first round, will be played Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. If one of the teams wins the first two games, the third game will not be played.

The Cycle Co. is undefeated in four games in the second round. Closely following is the Salesbook Co. team with one loss out of five games.

CHAPTER VII

Gay said eagerly: "Oh, but you've never been in better voice in your life, Madame Gail and I were listening to you at the piano in your studio yesterday when you broke down and sang "Home Sweet Home!" Your voice had something that I've never heard before. It's so warm and human and full of sympathy! I wouldn't tell you it was if I didn't believe it, darling. You know that. Won't you give it a whirl?"

When April shook her head negatively, Gay insisted: "But you can't throw all that money away when we need it so much. Think what it would mean to us. There's a fortune in radio if you click. If Hartley gets a sponsor for you you'll make a lot of money. It's a five day a week broadcast, he says. An evening show. You could still spend a lot of time at the school."

April weakened. "If there is money in it, I suppose I'll have to try. I probably won't win the audition anyway. But for your sake, I'll do it."

Gay jumped up and gave April a tight squeeze.

"I knew you would, darling! Oh, I'm so thrilled. It's a grand chance for you. It's a crime to throw a voice like yours away. I've always thought so."

"But what shall I sing?" April asked.

"Hartley wants only old familiar songs. Ballads and folk songs and lullabies and spirituals. He says people are so sick of swing they're hungry for that sort of thing. The program is to advertise Grandmother's Lavendar Soap. That's another reason he wants old timey songs."

* * *

Two pink spots of excitement were by that time burning in April's usually pale cheeks. Singing on the radio had been her girlhood dream before she fell in love with Hill and married him. Now perhaps it was to come true.

"I'll probably disgrace you," April told Gay the next morning holding her shaking knees as they rode over to the audition in Madame Gail's car.

Gail patted her hand: "I'll take a chance."

"Nonsense," said Madame Gail. I know a recording voice when I hear one! If you just forget the microphone is there and sing naturally, everything will be all right."

April was glad that the studio where they were ushered into at World Wide was deserted except for Hartley Jones and an engineer. She had expected a crowd of competitors.

"I'm taking you first," Jones explained when she asked him where the other singers to be auditioned were. "The others are coming this afternoon. Gay thought you might be a little mike shy, so I thought we'd better take it alone."

April said gratefully: "That was very kind of you. I am a little scared."

In a short while Gay went with Hartley into the small glass enclosed room off the studio where they could hear April's voice coming over the microphone, and soon she was lost in the lovely strains of "Old Folks at Home."

After April had sung three numbers Hartley Jones who sat listening tensely said quietly to Gay:

"She'll be a big radio name some day!"

When Hartley Jones telephoned April the next morning that she had won the audition to sing on the Grandmother's Lavender soap program and asked her to come to Manhattan to sign the contracts that afternoon, she was more surprised than she had ever been before in her life.

It didn't make sense. Singers struggled for years to get a break like that, without success. Wonderful singers with voices she felt certain were much better than hers. But it was true, this amazing luck, and she was to have an income that would keep the school and the house running without any further worry over bills. Together with Gay she wept tears of joy, and felt that perhaps it wasn't such a bad old world after all.

Life was a sort of pattern. seemed crazy, but if you waited it worked itself out; usually for the best. For instance, if her home hadn't broken up this opportunity never would have come to her. It was a tragic price to pay for an old dream, but at least it would partly compensate for what had happened. If she made good she could give Kenny everything in the world he needed.

The next three weeks were the busiest April had ever had in her life. She made an effort to do her share at the school, but the running back and forth to rehearsals and taking care of the thousand and one new things that kept bobbing up made it almost impossible.

When Tony and Tanya Haven offered to sell her their coupe very reasonably because they were buying a larger car, April bought it. With her thirteen week contract, even if she didn't go on after that, she could easily pay the small amount it cost.

April's radio debut was a quiet one because she was an unknown. Aside from the usual announcements sent out by the press department of the broadcasting system, there was no fanfare with the beginning of the new program. April invited only Gay Lorraine and Curt De Witt.

Gay sat with Curt in the glass enclosed room upstairs where they could both see and hear the broadcast. April was lovely in a pale blue velvet evening gown that clung to her perfect little figure and fell in soft folds to the floor. Her hair was parted in the middle and brought down softly over her small ears. She wore no jewelry. Orchids Curt De Witt had sent perched on her shoulder.

Gay felt Curt's tenseness when April walked to the microphone as the announcer began his commercial announcement. She knew how desperately he wanted April to succeed as a singer on the radio. Dear Curt, who had been such a good friend to April through the months since her divorce, and whom Gay felt certain loved her dearly.

And then April began to sing. There was a small orchestra that played softly and her lovely contralto was heard in "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny." After the first number Curt relaxed and turned to Gay with a smile.

"She has a magnificent voice," he sighed with relief. "I'm sure she'll be a success."

"Of course she will," Gay smiled back at him. "I have never doubted it. She's got everything."

"Everything," Curt echoed. "Beauty, brains, a fine mind."

"She's the most wonderful person I have ever known," said Gay gravely. "She deserves a great deal more than life has given her so far."

"I'd like to give it to her," Curt De Witt said almost under his breath.

"You have my blessing," Gay smiled at him affectionately. "Thanks," Curt smiled back at her. "That helps a lot. Do you think I have a chance, Gay?"

"I hope so," Gay sighed. "April has always been a one man woman. But I'm sure she's very fond of you." She reached over and patted his hand: "Why don't you ask her and see? I'll do everything I can to play cupid."

"You're a grand girl," Curt said gratefully. "I can't tell you how grateful I am to you for approving of me."

Gay said excitedly: "You must ask her tonight! This would be a good psychological moment. I'm leaving right after the broadcast so you two can be alone."

"Oh, you mustn't do that!" Curt protested. "We'll all go out and celebrate together."

"We'll do nothing of the kind," Gay shook her head swiftly. "You get April into some nice quiet romantic place with soft lights and music and speak your piece. Tonight."

When April had finished singing, Gay shook hands with Curt De Witt hurriedly and grinned: "Tell April I've gone home with a headache. And that I think she was marvelous. If I wait to congratulate her, she'll make me go along."

* * *

Before Curt could stop her she was gone. Everyone in the studio crowded around April to congratulate her, and Curt went downstairs and waited on the edge of the crowd. When she joined him her cheeks were pink from the praise heaped upon her

"Mr. Jones says it was all right," Her eyes sparkled with excitement. "He says all there is to do now is wait and see how the fan mail comes in. Isn't that awful? Suppose no one writes."

Curt smiled: "I'll write you a fan letter Miss Lind. You are now my favorite singer."

April was singing as April Lind because she felt she did not want to capitalize on Hill's well known name. now that she was no longer his wife.

In a charming little restaurant overlooking the East River a little later Curt and April drank champagne and listened to a small string orchestra play old Vienesse melodies. April was very beautiful in the soft lights, with her wide gray eyes, and excitement burning in her cheeks.

Curt De Witt leaned toward her suddenly and said very low.

"I love you."

April was startled. She thought she must have misunderstood.

"Wh-what did you say?" her eyes opened wider.

"I love you," he said again.

April was taken completely by surprise. Her eyes lost their sparkle and she said unhappily: "I'm sorry."

Curt said tensely. "Sorry? Why should you be sorry, dear?"

"I—I had hoped you wouldn't —really fall in love with me. That—you were just fond of me, and enjoyed going places—" she looked away.

Curt's warm brown eyes searched her face closely: "Do you like me a little, April? Just a little?"

She reached over and took his hand that lay so tensely on the table beside her.

"Oh, Curt," she smiled through tears, "of course I'm fond of you. You're an angel."

He held her hand tightly, leaning closer, "Will you marry me?"

April withdrew her hand and sat back almost as if he had struck her.

"Marry you?" she whitened "Oh, Curt, please don't let's talk about marriage. I—I've been through one marriage. I—couldn't bear it again."

Curt winced at the look in her eyes. He tried to smile. He said gently:

"But darling, this would be so different. I want to take care of you. I don't want you to ever have to worry about anything. I want to be a good father to your child. My little daughter needs a mother like you. It—could be so—wonderful. Won't you think it over? Don't say no right now, April. Give me a chance to prove myself."

April said quickly: "You don't have to prove yourself, darling. I—it's just that I've nothing to offer. I can never love again. You're too fine a person to cheat."

Curt broke in gently.

"I'll take a chance on winning your love. I'd be so good to you April. I'd live my whole life for you. I'd give you anything in the world that money can buy if you'll be my wife."

April couldn't bear the longing in Curt De Witt's eyes. So she said with a look of affection that made him hope:

"I'll try to make myself feel differently about marrying again, Curt. But I won't marry you unless I'm sure of myself. I don't care how much money you have. You know that. I'm terribly fond of you. Some of these days—perhaps I'll feel differently about love. I hope so."

Curt's lean, strong face broke into a smile.

"That's better—" he sighed. "At least you're going to give me a chance. That's much more than I had hoped for."

A little later April said: "I'm more tired than I realized after all the excitement. Do you mind if we go now?"

Curt said contritely: "Of course you're tired, darling. I'm selfish keeping you up so late. We'll go at once."

In the car going home, Curt moved closely to April and when he put his arms around her she made no effort to pull away because she did not want to hurt his feelings. She knew how deeply he loved her, and was more than grateful that he had made no effort to make love to her in a physical way.

But suddenly Curt moved his head and sought her lips, and April closed her eyes and let him kiss her long and hungrily. As Curt held her close April wished desperately that she loved him as he wanted to be loved.

At least, she discovered to her surprise, she enjoyed his kisses a lot more than she had expected. Perhaps she was a little more fond of him than she realized. Or was this just because she was so lonely, and because of her great need to be loved?

Could love really come to her again?

Navy Gets Medal For Submarine Safety Equipment

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— For developing the safest and surest means of rescuing trapped seamen from disabled submarines, the United States Navy has been awarded the Cresson medal of achievement by Franklin Institute.

Bestowal of the medal gave recognition to research workers who labored at the Washington Navy Yard on the problem since the Submarine S-4 sank off Massachusetts with a loss of 47 men in 1927.

Only devices available up to that time were a helmet and a breathing bag in use by the Germans. For collective rescue the raising of the vessel by pontoons had to be relied upon.

The Navy researchers solved the problem with the United State Lung and Rescue chamber. Success came after arduous tests conducted in a 60-foot deep tank —tests which evolved a lung which has made ascents from depths of 200 feet.

ERRORS BLAMED

ST. LOUIS— (U.P.) —If the boss accuses you of making too many errors in your work, blame it on the noise. Experiments conducted at St. Louis prepared to launch a campaign to diminish unnecessary noises were reported as showing noise abatement reduced typing errors as much as 52 per cent.

LOSES TROUSER SEAT

HASTINGS, Neb.—(U.P.)—Filling station proprietor, A. E. Wright, was relieved of his slot machine but not until he had the seat from the thief's trousers. He appeared just as a youth was carrying the slot machine from the station office and made a grab for him but all he got was a fistful of cloth.

THEATERS

Romantic Quartet.

Three young men engaged to the same girl battle it out for her affections in "Tom, Dick and Harry," in Ginger Rogers' latest production showing at the Ohio. George Murphy, as a super-salesman, Alan Marshal in the role of a scion of wealth, and Burgess Meredith in the part of a whacky garage mechanic, play the trio. Ginger plays the slap-happy telephone gal who just couldn't say "no" when a proposal came along. Jane Seymour and Joe Cunningham have the part of her parents.

Laugh Riot.

A bull in a china shop has nothing on the Marx brothers once they get going on roller skates among the glass show cases in "The Big Store," their current riot playing at the Madison. Virginia Grey and Tony Martin play the romantic leads and Virginia Grey is in the cast Harpo is up to his old tricks on the harp and Chico on the piano. Tony Martin sings with a boys' choir and 40-piece children's orchestra. "They Dare Not Love," co-starring George Brent and Martha Scott concerns two lovers in exile who defy the ruthless arm of dictatorship.

Comedy Romance.

The matrimonial plans of a stenographer and her sailor sweetheart make for comedy romance in "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob," showing at the Park. George Murphy plays the sailor who quits the sea to marry and settle down. Lucille Ball has the role of a girl, whose boss, Edmond O'Brien, a socialite takes a hand in managing the romance, until he falls in love with the girl himself. "Angels With Broken Wings," the second attraction, features Binnie Barnes and Gilbert Roland.

Musical Production.

Jack Oakie and Alice Faye top the cast of "The Great American Broadcast," showing at the Ritz. Dealing with the developing of broadcasting the picture recalls such events as the Willard-Dempsey fight and introduces many new and old tunes. Joan Crawford is starred in "A Woman's Face," the companion feature, that deals with the rejuvenation of a woman brought about by plastic surgery. Melvin Douglas is co-starred.

Pennsylvania Has A Vast Potential Coal Capacity

HARRISBURG— (INS)—Pennsylvania has a potential yearly capacity of 227,000,000 tons of coal, an increase by 40 per cent over the present annual production, according to Secretary of Mines Richard Maize.

Maize stated that Pennsylvania's mines—both anthracite and bituminous—produce one third of the nation's supply and based his figures on a recently completed study by his department as part of the defense program instituted by Gov. Arthur H. James.

"The Pennsylvania Department of Mines today enjoys an enviable position among the 31 coal-producing states of the nation," Maize stated.

"It is looked upon as the leader in every safety movement started with the view of safeguarding the mine worker. and as a result of this leadership, the accident record of the mining industry in Pennsylvania is better than that of any state in the Union.

RESOLUTION NO. 41-131

BY MR. HUNTER.

Declaring it necessary to improve Daisy Street from Harker Street to Raymond Avenue by the construction of curb and gutters, with necessary grading, filling etc.

Be it Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all Members elected thereto concurring:

SEC. 1.—That it is necessary to improve Daisy Street from Harker Street to Raymond Avenue by the construction of curb and gutters, with necessary grading, filling, etc.

SEC. 2.—That the grade of said street as improved shall be the established grade; and that the grade of the curbs shall be as established.

SEC. 3.—That the plans specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service be and the same are hereby approved.

SEC. 4.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less the cost of intersections, one-fiftieth of the total cost and percentage of former assessments as regulated by law shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit, all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures

SEC. 5.—That the assessments so be levied shall be paid in three annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 6.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

SEC. 7.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of any appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest thereon, and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the manner provided by law.

ORDINANCE NO. 32

An Ordinance amending Ordinance No. 3 of the ordinances of the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE VILLAGE OF SOUTH BOULEVARDS, OHIO, That Ordinance No 3 of the ordinances of the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio be amended to read as follows:

Section 1 When any person or persons firm or corporation shall be desirous of erecting, repairing, changing or altering any building or structure excepting for repairs for maintainance not affecting the construction sanitation safety or any other vital feature of the building or structure, application shall be made at the office of the Village Clerk for a permit to do so and the Village Clerk shall be furnished with a written statement or blank for that purpose of the location and intended use of the proposed building or structure, together with the plans and specifications of the same, to be in ink or to be blue prints thereof, to be delivered to the Village Clerk and left in his custody for a sufficient length of time to allow the necessary examination to be made.

Section 2 That it shall be unlawful to proceed with the construction, repair, alteration or addition to any building or structure without a permit in accordance hetewith If it shall appear to the Village Clerk that the laws and ordinances in force have been complied with and that the plans and specifications that have been submitted are in ceoidance herewith, and that the approximate cost of said new building or structure is equal to or more than as stipuated by the allotment for the lot on which the building is to be erected, he shall give the permit asked for upon the payment of the fee hereinafter prescribed, and shall then stamp the plans and specifications, stating that they have been fully examined and approved. After having been thus stamped and approved the plans and specifications shall not be altered in any respect covered by this ordinance during the progress of the work for which they are intended, without the approval of the Village Clerk.

If any alteration in, or addition to the plans becomes necessary, and such alteration or addition are effected by this ordinance then application shall be made to the Village Clerk and a permit secured covering the alteration or addition in the same manner and subject to the same limitations as the original permit, except that there shall be no additional cost for the permit

Separate application shall be filed and a permit obtained for the erection or alteration of each individual building.

Section 3. Each and every permit issued by the Village Clerk shall be subject to revocation by him when it appears that the building or structure provided for therein is being constructed contrary to the provisions of the laws and ordinances in force, or any statute of the state relating to the same subject matter, or that the approximate cost of the new building or structure is not equal to or greater than the stipulation by the allotment for the lot on which the building is to be erected. The revocation of the permit in every instance shall be in writing and shall be served upon the owner or his agents or contractor in charge of the work and posted upon the building or structure for which the said permit was granted or in which said work is being done; and from and after such revocation of said permit and the posting of said notice, all work covered by a permit so revoked or directly affected thereby shall be discontinued and no person shall continue any work covered by a permit so revoked until authorized to do so in writing by the Village Clerk.

Section 4. The fee for building permits shall be Two Dollars ($2.00) upon new buildings or structures.

The alteration of old buildings or structures, the cost of which is more than One Thousand Dollars ($1000.00) the sum of One Dollar ($1.00) shall be charged.

For all new buildings in the nature of sheds the sum of One Dollar ($1.00) shall be charged for the permit.

All money received for permits shall be paid into the General Fund.

Section 5. Any person or persons, firm or corporation, violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($500.00) nor less than FIFTY DOLLARS ($50.00) and pay the costs of prosecution.

Section 6. That the original ordinance No. 3 of the ordinances of the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio be and the same is hereby repealed.

This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

RESOLUTION NO. 41-129

BY MR. EMMONS.

Declaring it necessary to improve Newman Street from Fifth Street to Orange Street by grading the street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage, etc.

Be it Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield State of Ohio, three-fourths of all Members elected thereto concurring:

SEC. 1.—That it is necessary to improve Newman Street from Fifth Street to Orange Street by grading the Street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage, etc.

SEC. 2.—That the grade of said street as improved shall be the established grade; and that the grade of the curbs shall be as established.

SEC. 3.—That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvements heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved.

SEC. 4.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less the cost of intersections and one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit, all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement: and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments and all other necessary expenditures.

SEC. 5.—That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in five annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor, provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case said cash assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 6.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

SEC. 7.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of any appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest thereon, and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the manner provided by law.

SEC. 8.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

ORDINANCE NO. 41-146

BY MR. BERG:

An Ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement of Wood Street from Cline Avenue to Ruth Avenue by grading the street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage, etc., and authorizing the issuance and sale of bonds to pay for said improvement.

Be It Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all the members elected thereto concurring:

SEC. 1 —That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Wood Street from Cline Avenue to Ruth Avenue by grading the street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm draining, etc., in accordance with Resolution No. 41-36 passed March 4, 1941 and in accordance with the plans, specifications, estimates and profile of said improvement heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service of said city.

SEC. 2.—That all claims for damages resulting therefrom shall be judicially inquired into after completion of the proposed amendment.

SEC. 3.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less the cost of intersections and one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed by the foot front upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement, and the remaining portion of the cost of said proposed improvement shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio.

That to provide a fund for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense for which special assessments are authorized to be levied for the improvement of Wood Street as aforesaid, the Mayor and Auditor be and they are hereby authorized to issue, advertise for sale and sell according to law Fourteen Thousand Five Hundred ($14,500.00) Dollars of Street Assessment Bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in denominations of from 50 to 1000 Dollars each, payable in from One to Five years, and bearing interest at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor, payable semi-annually.

That to provide a fund to pay that portion of the cost of said improvement which has to be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, the cost thereof to-wit: $6,100.00 to be taken out of the 5-6 Gas Tax Fund.

And the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of the cost and expense of said improvement as aforesaid, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

An annual levy shall be made during the term of said bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the interest on the same and to provide a sinking fund for their redemption as they mature.

SEC. 4.—That the following lots and lands shall be assessed for said improvement as above determined. All the lots lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement on Wood Street between Cline Avenue and Ruth Avenue

SEC. 5.—That upon the sale of said bonds the proceeds thereof, together with the moneys received, if any, from the cash payments of assessments, shall be placed in the City Treasury, the accrued interest and premiums shall be placed to the credit of the sinking fund, and the remaining portion of the purchase price of said bonds shall be placed to the credit of Wood Street Improvement fund and disbursed upon proper vouchers in payment of the cost and expense of the improvement aforesaid, and all moneys coming into said Wood Street Improvement fund are hereby appropriated for the purpose of said disbursements.

SEC. 6.—That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids and to make and execute a contract for said improvement with the lowest and best bidder, according to law.

SEC. 7.—This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Don't throw away your smooth, worn tires—there are thousands and thousands of safe miles left in them if you let us retread them with Firestone New-Treads.

What is a Firestone New-Tread? It's your smooth tire with a rugged, tough, long-wearing, non-skid tread applied over the old tread.

Here's Why Firestone Can Serve You Best!

Inspecting The Tire
Your smooth tire is thoroughly inspected and we make sure the body is safe and sound.

Buffing The Tire
The tread is buffed, then the surface is roughened so that the New-Tread will adhere to it inseparably when cured.

Applying New-Tread
The New-Tread is made with the same Vitamic rubber compound which accounts for the amazingly long mileage of Firestone DeLuxe Champion Tires.

Curing The Tire
In the Firestone Factory Controlled Method of curing, no heat is applied to the shoulders or sidewalls of the tire. This assures greater strength and longer mileage.

RALLYING TREND HOLDS ALTHOUGH CLIMB'S SLIGHT

Rails, Steels, and Aircrafts Edge Up Fractionally as Mart Opens.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Faint rallying trends persisted in today's stock market although many leaders lacked real climbing vigor.

Rails, steels and aircrafts edged forward at the start and gains of fractions were discerned in most departments near the second hour.

A little buying in the share list cropped up, brokers said, on the theory the market was entitled to a fair-sized technical comeback in the view of its lengthy siesta.

Studied in financial offices was the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said placing of steel orders had been virtually stopped "until the all-out priority order can be digested and its provisions more fully understood."

Scrap shortages continues a threat to production, the review added, although some relief has been afforded by the recent revision of ceiling prices.

U. S. Supplies May Go To China By Way of India

HONG KONG—(INS)—American war materials and supplies to China will in the future find a new highway via India which was really one of the ancient caravan routes maintaining the only means of communication between China and the outside world.

Several Chinese experts and technicians are now on their way to China's western borders and India to carry out the necessary investigations on behalf of the Chinese government.

On the eve of their departure from Chungking one of the experts, related that the caravan routes were in existence as early as the Han Dynasty (206 B. C. to 219 A. D.), when Buddhism found its way into China over these routes.

It is on record that during the Tang Dynasty (618-905 A. D.) the emperor sent three monks by one of the caravan routes to India for further studies in Buddhism.

By October, American railroads expect of have 1,000 new locomotives—375 steam and 625 electric and Diesel-electric—not in existence when the war began.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Hospital Meeting—Members of Mansfield General hospital board of trustees will hold a meeting at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, at the hospital, it was announced today.

Reports Auto Stolen — Charles Zellner, Perrysville, R. D. 1, reported to police last night that his automobile had been stolen from the intersection of North Franklin and East Third street yesterday.

School Homecoming — Former teachers and pupils of Pleasant Hall school will hold a reunion basket dinner Saturday at Dickson's grove. The affair will be the fifth annual reunion of the organization.

Kiwanis Meeting—Maurice Boyajian, a recently nationalized citizen from Armenia, will address members of the Kiwanis club at their regular noon meeting next Thursday in the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Drawing from 25 years experience spent under Russian rule, Boyajian will take "On Near East Russia" as his topic.

Hold Protest Meeting — The Farmers' Protective association of Washington township will hold a meeting protesting the wheat marketing quotas and 49-cent wheat penalty at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Center Hall school south of Mansfield. H. H. Fackler, Plymouth, chairman of the Richland county association, will speak. The meeting will be open to farmers in the township who oppose the wheat program.

Hospital Numbers The Dental Plates Of Its Patients

PUEBLO, Colo.—(INS)—Colorado State hospital, institution for mental patients at Pueblo, has added another method of identifying its 4,000 patients to the fingerprinting and laundry marks already in use—numbering and lettering of dental plates.

Numbers stare at A-1 and continue to 100 with each letter of the alphabet. They are cut into the plates and then filled with silver amalgam, and all numbers are recorded in a master list carried as a permanent record.

Hospital officials claim the method has proved practical in that the owner can trace his plate if it is lost, or, in turn, the owner can be traced through his plate in case he becomes injured or lost.

The work was begun about two months ago by Dr. C. H. Giddings and Dr. L. S. Fimple, hospital dentists, and to date 1,160 plates have been numbered. With the number of patients the hospital has, and with a good many of them having dental plates, even false teeth can get occasionally mixed up unless such a system is used, officials pointed out.

PLANT TO BE TESTED

DAVIS, Calif.—(U.P.)—The Agricultural College of the University of California has undertaken to establish whether a rubber producing industry from the guayule plant is a practical possibility in California. A nursery has been set aside for the growing of seedlings of the plant and these will be distributed throughout the state.

LONG DIVORCE FAILURE

NEW ALBANY, Ind.—(U.P.)—Charles F. McKinley, 71, and Elizabeth McKinley, 68, have had a long time to think things over since being divorced 19 years ago. So they're going to remarry.
